MINISTRY PRESENTS POLICY TO BRITISH LABOR

REVISION OF B.C. LIBRARY POLICY URGED

Settled Districts to Provide Library Service, Scattered Areas to Be Left to Province, Board Recommends

MANAGEMENT BY STANDING BOARD

System of Financing to Be Based on Provincial Aid, With Contributions From Carnegie Corporation

A MAJOR part of the grants made by the Government goes to help provide book service to communities that in the opinion of those responsible for the survey, would be able to finance their own library service if proper means for intercommunity co-operation were provided for by law, and so demonstrated in practice as to be made familiar to the people of the province. This is one of the major conclusions reached by the committee in charge of British Columbia Library Survey which has been going on for nearly two years, and has now been concluded with the presentation of a report to the Provincial Secretary.

The report, which has been handed to the Provincial Secretary's Department, has received no attention as yet from Hon. S. L. Howe. It is a quite voluminous report and will require careful consideration by the Provincial Secretary before he is in a position to make any recommendations with regard to its findings to the Government.

TWO METHODS OF ATTACK

Much of the actual matter contained in the report has already been made familiar to the public through a series of bulletins issued from time to time as the survey has progressed. Two main principles emerge from the report, by way of recommendations, the encouragement of settled districts to provide library service, at first with financial assistance and advice from governmental sources, and second, by establishing by the Government of Coast and frontier services allocated to reach isolated men and families, this latter to be carried out wholly as a provincial undertaking. The report points out that if these communities now having assisted library services could be gradually trained to take care of their own needs in this respect, more money would be available for the coast and frontier services.

It is therefore suggested that an experimental period be entered upon, the work of which shall be planned for or seven years in advance. At

Almost Inhuman to Detain Juveniles in Fire Trap With Insufficient Ventilation, Says Report

OFFICER GIVEN HIGH PRAISE

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—Detention of juvenile boys and girls in the juvenile court premises at 2532 Pine Street, seemed "almost inhuman," the grand jury, in a presentment read in assize court today, reported to Mr. Justice Murphy.

The grand jury had nothing but words of praise for Chief Probation Officer Collier. The three-story building, they pointed out, with its young inmates locked in at night, is likely to prove a "death trap" in the event of fire.

AGREEMENT NOT YET REACHED UPON RATE FOR BRITISH SETTLER

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Negotiations looking toward reduction of the ocean rate to Canada for prospective immigrants are temporarily at deadlock, the Canadian Press understands. The companies concerned on the one hand and the Overseas Settlement Steamship Committee and British Board of Trade on the other, are continuing negotiations, however, with a view to reducing the rate to $50 from port to port. It is believed that some settlement may be reached at a final conference on November 12, when W. J. Egan, Deputy Canadian Minister of Immigration, will be present. It is understood the British authorities are willing to make a further subsidy to bring the rate down to $50 from the present rate of $61.15. The steamship companies are also willing to make some concessions, but these are so far insufficient to insure an agreement.

$80,000 BY-LAW BEFORE SAANICH

Substitution of an $80,000 money by-law to the electorate of Saanich is highly probable as a result of recommendations made at last night's meeting of the council by the councillors, in connection with the extension of the waterworks system. The recommendations were generally endorsed by the councillors, although some expressed the opinion that the ratepayers would turn it down even though the work was necessary. The recommendation was that a by-law be submitted to authorize the extension of the waterworks system into Cordova Bay, via Blenkinsop Road, the replacement of the Cloverdale main with a twelve-inch main, replacement of the Wilkinson Road main with a six-inch main, and other necessary work.

Six Measures Outlined by Chancellor of Exchequer to House of Commons—Increase of Employment to Be Provided for Chiefly by Encouragement to Industries

Labor Party Proposes Wage Instead of Dole

Mr. Clynes Moves Amendment Censuring Government—Would Increase Dole Given to Unemployed and Pay It as Wage in Return for Work Done

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Six measures by which the British Government will endeavor to reduce unemployment in Britain, were outlined in the House of Commons tonight by Mr. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer. The Government's proposals for relieving the unemployment situation are:

1. Removal of the local taxes on agricultural, industrial and transportation properties.
2. Empire settlement of men from the industrial districts, who will receive agricultural training under the Government. (Under this plan 20,000 miners a year would be given agricultural training for settlement in the Dominions.)
3. Safeguarding of industries by tariff protection in special cases.
4. Extension of the scheme of export credits.
5. Development of electrical power.
6. Special measures for absorption of the surplus miners into other industries.

The first amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was moved by Mr. J. R. Clynes, on behalf of the Labor Party in the House of Commons this evening. The amendment censured the Government for its unemployment policy, declaring the country was burdened with unemployed in its most acute form. Mr. Clynes suggested increasing the dole into a wage for actual work.

CITY POLICE VINDICATED BY VERDICT

Commissioner W. E. Staneland Says Criminal Libel Trial Exonerated Detective Phipps of Charge

MAYOR PLEASED WITH DECISION

Board Recommends Bailiffs and Private Detective Agencies Should Apply to Council for Licence

"To my mind the outcome of the Bracken-Marshall trial is a clear vindication of Detective Phipps and of the whole police force, and it is regrettable that statements based on rumors alone should jeopardize the good name of the police force of this city," declared Police Commissioner Walter E. Staneland, in presenting his report of the criminal libel trial to the City Police Commission at its monthly meeting yesterday.

Commissioner Staneland suggested that the Police Commission recommend to the municipal council that all bailiffs and private detective agencies should make direct application to the City Council for a licence to do business in the city of Victoria, and furthermore, that such a licence should not be granted unless approved by the chief constable or his representative. This proposal was endorsed by the board, and the recommendation will be sent to the City Council.

Mayor J. Carl Pendray, chairman of the commission, said he was glad to find that the court in Vancouver ruled in favor of Detective Phipps, and he was going to personally congratulate Mr. Phipps on the first opportunity upon his winning the case. He said Commissioner Staneland deserved the thanks of the commission for the splendid manner in which he had given of the trial, in which expression Commissioner William White heartily acquiesced.

"I am delighted to think that I have served four years as chairman of the Police Commission, and there has been no scandal in the police department," Mayor Pendray said.

REPORT OF TRIAL

Commissioner Staneland's report of the Bracken-Marshall trial was as follows:

"On August 11, 1928, in a paper called Information, printed in Vancouver by Robert Bracken, publisher, and Edward Marshall, editor, an article was written with the heading 'The Capital Infested.' In that article was stated: 'From another landlady, 'Teddy' or 'Phipps' of the hotel, Detective Phipps is reported to be receiving the sum of $50 every month, and there is only too much reason to believe that this report is true it will not end the tale of woe.'

"Detective Marcus T. Phipps, of this department, charged the publisher and the editor with defamatory libel. They were arrested and released on bail.

"The first trial was held on October 15, 1928, in the city of Vancouver. The jury disagreed on the point as to whether the accused had taken reasonable precautions to verify the truth of the allegations against Detective Phipps.

"The second trial took place in Vancouver on October 26 and 27, 1928. The verdict of 'guilty' was brought in by the jury, and the defendants were fined the sum of $100 or two months' imprisonment in default of payment, and costs were awarded to Detective Phipps.

"It is not necessary for me to review the evidence, as my fellow commissioners are fully aware of the same, due to the fact that a splendid account was submitted by the representative of a daily paper who was present at the trial and gave a detailed statement of the evidence.

AN HONEST OFFICER

"Mayor J. Carl Pendray and Chief of Police Fry, who were called at the first trial, did not give evidence at the second trial, but it should be noted that both of these gentlemen, when called at the first trial, stated that Detective Phipps was an honest, capable police officer.

"It is also well to point out for the benefit of our records that the women, namely Mrs. Beverly Brooks, who is known also under the name of 'Teddy,' and who now operates the Panama Hotel, of Victoria, as a rooming house; Mrs. Lela Roberts, who was formerly in charge of the same premises, and Mrs. Stella Bridges, also of Victoria, who were subpoenaed by the defence to give evidence at the first trial, but none of these was called. However, at the second trial each and every one of them testified and stated they had never paid any money to Phipps or any other police officer.

"It is well also to place on record the fact that no direct evidence was submitted to prove the truth of the allegation. Robert Bracken, the defendant, stated that he had heard reports from a woman named 'Teddy' that Detective Phipps was in receipt of protection money.

"He engaged a man, T. Cockerill, bailiff and private detective, to investigate these rumors, and upon receipt of certain papers from T. Cockerill, handed these papers over to the editor, and the article was printed.

CLEAR VINDICATION

"It was also brought out in the evidence that, while Bracken, the defendant, had visited the Panama Hotel, he made no effort to ascertain the truth of the rumors. The defendant was also questioned as to whether or not he had made inquiries regarding T. Cockerill, and in effect, his reply was as follows: 'Any man who holds a licence from a city to do business was naturally considered reliable, otherwise he would not have a licence.'

"To my mind the outcome of the trial is a clear vindication of Detective Phipps and of the whole police force of this city."

STOMACH PAINS TIED VICTORIA MAN IN A KNOT

"But Taking Husky Has Completely Relieved Me," Says Superior Street Resident

G. STRATTON

"I had such intense pains in my stomach and was so nauseated I had to lay off from work for a while," said George Stratton, of 282 Superior Street, expert painter and member of the Painters' Union Local, of this city.

"The pains in my stomach would double me up in a knot and I couldn't move," he said. "I was scared to eat for I knew how it was going to hurt me."

"A druggist recommended Husky to me and I got immediate relief from it. I haven't been bothered with the stomach pains since I started taking Husky and I'm certainly feeling a lot better, being able to work regular and eat enough to give me strength."

"Don't suffer any longer. Go now and get a bottle of Husky, begin its treatment and note the change in your condition a week from today. It is nothing short of marvelous what this medicine will do for you in a short time. The MacFarlane Drug Co. and other good drug stores everywhere always have Husky."

force, and it is regrettable that statements based on rumors alone should jeopardize the good name of the police force of this city.

"In conclusion, I would like to suggest to my fellow commissioners that this board recommend to the municipal council that all bailiffs and private detective agencies should make direct application to the City Council for a licence to do business in the city of Victoria, and furthermore, that such a licence should not be granted unless approved by the chief constable or his representative."

Passengers to Go Regularly Across Canada in 2 Days

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 8.—Transcontinental travel from Halifax to Vancouver in forty-eight hours or less, by combined train and airplane service, was envisioned within a few years by Major-General J. H. Macbrien, president of the Aviation League of Canada, in addressing more than 150 delegates at Canada's first aviation conference yesterday.

General Macbrien foresaw that within a few years more people would be able to cut down this time considerably, and would be able to make the entire trip in large airplanes fitted for day and night travel.

General Macbrien declared that the development of aviation would do more than anything else to bring co-ordination, commercially and politically, to Canada's great areas.

ASSURANCE GIVEN ON WATER RIGHT

Cheskanus Water Supply Is Reserved for Possible Municipal Developments

There has been some excitement aroused in the city of Vancouver for fear that the Cheskanus water supply, at the head of Howe Sound, might be lost as a possible power supply in case of need by the city. This, it would appear from the water branch of the Department of Lands, is not to be feared.

There is still a reserve existing on this water area, so that in case of need, if a case were put up by the city of Vancouver for the water supply, it would be possible to obtain it.

POPPY DAY YEAR BOOK ISSUED BY CANADIAN LEGION

Mr. Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional," with its insistence on the phrase "Let us forget"—will spring once more into the prominence, which it has always deserved, on Sunday next. No printed matter could be more eloquent of this sentiment than the Poppy Day Year Book of the Canadian Legion, issued by the British Columbia command.

That there has been a need for a publication of this kind, which keeps its everlasting debt before the eyes of the nation, can be seen, only too often, by the "man in the street," who is able to carry on his business only through the sacrifice of such men as are members of the Legion. The efforts of General Sir Percy Lake at the recent Amputations convention, which were directed towards an amalgamation of the various soldiers' organizations throughout Canada, occupied the attention of the public of British Columbia for a long time, and his retirement from active service is regarded by all sections of the Legion with great regret. An article by Lieutenant-Colonel W. W. Foster, D.S.O., provincial president of the Legion, will also be found in the current number of this paper, which is written, not only for ex-service men, but also for those who benefited by their magnificent example in the year 1914.

DRUG SELLER GETS 7 YEARS

TWO OTHERS ARE SENTENCED TO FIVE YEARS' IMPRISONMENT EACH

Judge Describes Traffic as Most Nefarious Kind of Criminality—Must Be Ended

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—Mr. Justice Murphy, in Assize Court today, imposed a sentence on Low Chee Leung, convicted distributor of cocaine, of seven years' imprisonment in New Westminster penitentiary, a fine of $1,000, payment of $20 costs, and in default of payment of fine and costs, an additional nine months' incarceration.

Other sentences imposed were: Johnnie Wong, selling morphine and cocaine, five years' imprisonment, a $200 fine, $20 costs, or six months additional; Pong Joe, distributing cocaine and morphine, five years' imprisonment, a $200 fine, $20 costs, or six months additional; Murray D. Harris, breaking and entering, three years; Russell C. Harris, breaking and entering, two years; Alexander Swanson, false pretences, three years; Aris Pantagos, seduction, two years; Perry H. McPherson, common assault, sentence suspended; August Charles Smith, theft, sentence suspended.

"This drug business is the most nefarious kind of criminality one can indulge in," said Mr. Justice Murphy to Pong Joe. "It not only kills the body but the soul of the victim. The Canadian people are determined to stamp out the traffic, and the only way is to impose heavy sentences."

"If we can't get the higher-ups we will attempt to discourage the peddlers," remarked His Lordship to Johnnie Wong.

"You seem to be one of the higher-ups, because in your room were found 800 grains of this nefarious drug," said the judge to Low Chee Leung. "So far as I am concerned, if a man, who is not merely a peddler but is the principal, comes before this court, he will get the maximum."

SPECIAL RITUAL ISSUED FOR USE

Armistice Memorial Service Issued by Dominion Committee for Use in Churches

A special Armistice memorial service has been prepared by the Armistice Ceremonial Committee of Canada, printed both in French and English, with the suggestion that it be used in the Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches of Canada. A special additional page is inserted for use in Catholic churches.

The service provides for the two minutes' silence, appropriate prayers, anthems, scripture readings, hymns, sermon, the Last Post, Reveille and National Anthem. The Armistice National Committee intimates to the churches that civic ceremonies this year will be held in the afternoon of Armistice Day, and that the Dominion service on Parliament Hill, Ottawa, held at the afternoon hour, will form the key service for civic assemblies throughout the Dominion.

This committee hopes that the churches of Canada will adopt the service so graciously prepared by them for use in the Dominion.

The committee is arranging to distribute a special Armistice supplement through the press from coast to coast for the information and guidance of the general public with the purpose of making the services in the churches an outstanding success.

"It is hoped the churches of Victoria will endeavor to observe this service on Sunday morning, and that the people will attend in large numbers," according to a statement issued last evening by Rev. Dr. Sippel, president of the Victoria Ministerial Association.

DEPARTMENT TO ASSEMBLE DATA ON HIGHWAYS

Mr. Thomas Taylor, Former Minister of Public Works, Receives Temporary Appointment

OBJECTIVE IS TO CONSERVE ROADS

There is a considerable amount of information available in various departments of the Provincial Government dealing with the subject of proper maintenance of roads after they have been constructed, and especially along the line of preventing overburdening of the roads by traffic of a character that was never intended to be carried over them. In order to get this materialized and brought into practical shape Mr. Thomas Taylor, a former minister of the Department of Public Works, who occupied that position in the administration of Sir Richard McBride, has been engaged for a period to devote his attention to the collection of the necessary data, and to get it in shape where it may be available as a guide to the Minister of Public Works and the department.

The collection of this material will be carried out by Mr. Taylor, checking up with the Provincial Police, and from other sources. His review of the situation will deal with traffic control in various parts of the province. Based upon this data, certain legislation may have to be introduced. Hon. N. S. Loughheed, the minister, is anxious to get the desired information in concrete form so that he may be able to decide just what legislation is required to check up on traffic as to weight, on licensing, and also the preventing of overburdening.

In this connection the laws of other provinces with regard to the matters involved, and those of the United States are being got together and studied so that exact information may be ready.

Mr. Taylor will be employed for a few months, it is anticipated, upon the work in hand, and his knowledge of the details of the department will be invaluable.

COUNSEL SAYS 1919 BY-LAW ULTRA VIRES

Mr. Stuart Henderson Attacks Validity of Municipal Shops Early Closing Measure in Court Case

DISMISSAL OF CHARGE ASKED

That the Municipal Shops Early Closing By-Law of 1919 is ultra vires, was the contention advanced by Mr. Stuart Henderson before Magistrate George Jay in the city police court yesterday. Mr. Henderson was counsel for James Little, who was arraigned on a charge of unlawfully failing to keep his shop at 2017 Quadra Street closed continuously from 6 p.m. on November 2 until 5 a.m. on November 3.

Mr. Henderson said that Section 9 of the Shops Regulations Act provided that "every by-law (under the act) shall take effect in no less than one week or more than two weeks from the date of passing thereof." Counsel observed that the Municipal Shops Early Closing By-Law was passed on March 24, 1919, and the date named for it to go into effect was May 15. This was contrary to the act, claimed Mr. Henderson, who said the only time that law could go into effect was between April 1 and 7 of that year.

The conditions under which the by-law could have been put in force have not been complied with. There cannot be any offence here, as there isn't any Municipal Shops Regulations By-Law," Mr. Henderson maintained.

ATTACKED BEFORE
 City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison recalled that the by-law was attacked by the late Mr. Aikman nine or ten years ago, and asked an adjournment to permit him to look into the law which was quoted at that time.

Magistrate Jay said the matter was an important one, as storekeepers in all parts of the city were affected by the case. He said he didn't wish to reach a hasty conclusion, and wished to hear thorough argument before giving a decision.

The only witness called by the prosecution was Miss Margaret Walker, who told of visiting the accused's store at 6:30 p.m. on November 2, and purchasing the quantity of provisions, including tea, honey and sardines, which were exhibited in court. She had gone there at Chief Fry's instructions, and was accompanied by the chief, she said. Mr. Henderson claimed that the Little shop was entitled to be opened after 6 o'clock under the by-law which provides for the exemption of shops selling confectioneries, tobacco supplies and similar goods.

POINT UPHOLD
 Regarding the point taken by Mr. Henderson that the Little shop was entitled to remain open, Mr. Harrison drew attention to a section of the by-law which states that shops are exempted from the rule if their sales are "limited to fresh milk, cream, newspapers, magazines, postcards, confectioneries, beverages, tobacco products, smokers' accessories, fresh fruit, ice cream, butter, fresh eggs, buttermilk, etc." The shop could not remain open if it were selling groceries, he maintained. The magistrate upheld this point, declaring that if such were not the case, any grocery store could evade the by-law by keeping a small supply

Drainage Helps Growth

WITH knowledge of the extensive and favorable work done in other countries, and having considerable areas of suppressed spruce in swamp or muskeg types on their limits, Mr. H. B. Schanche, manager of the woods department of the Abitibi Power & Paper Company, Ltd., Iroquois Falls, Ontario, decided to carry on certain experiments to ascertain what the results would be of draining swamp areas in that district, and ditches were dug in 1922, draining certain areas, on which careful data has been kept, and with most remarkable results.

The accompanying cut shows the results obtained. The small lines represent a growth of approximately forty years, while the wider lines at the outer edge show the very large accelerated growth during the past six years. In the first year after drainage, little difference in rate of growth was noted. In the second year the rate of growth in diameter increased up to 200 per cent. In the following years and up to the present or sixth year, the rate of growth has annually shown an increase of from 300 to 500 per cent.

The experiment, which has been carried on exclusively by the Abitibi company, is considered a pronounced success, and the company is about to launch a similar research project on a much broader scale, where complete and detailed data can be collected on the thousand events, become merchantable for an indefinite period.

It would seem from such very general observations that have been made to date, that this project may possibly, in due course, show definitely the economy of adapting this form of soil treatment to vast areas in the northern parts of Ontario and Quebec, which are now either totally unproductive as muskegs or, at best, support only a more or less stunted and exceedingly slow-growing stand of timber, much of which cannot, in the ordinary course of events, become merchantable for an indefinite period.

DISCHARGE OF CHINESE ASKED
 Imprisonment of Paul Wise to Satisfy Debt is Issue in Supreme Court Chambers Hearing

An application for the discharge of Paul Wise, twenty-eight-year-old Chinese journalist and McGill graduate, who was arrested on a writ of capias, and who has been confined in the city jail for the past three months for debt, was made before Justice Hunter in Supreme Court Chambers yesterday by Mr. M. B. Jackson, K.C., on behalf of Paul Wise. The hearing was adjourned until November 19.

Mr. Jackson moved for the release of Wise on the ground that the defendant had no assets with which to satisfy the original debt on which he went to jail. The Province of British Columbia had abolished, in spirit at least, the remedy of imprisonment for debt, and the limit under which a man could be held under capias proceedings was one year. The writ of capias had been improperly given in the first place, he contended.

Counsel said the defendant, with others, had entered into an arrangement to purchase a Detroit restaurant owned by the plaintiff, one Ping Lee, a Chinese, of Toronto. This arrangement had been renewed, which proved, said Mr. Jackson, that the element of fraud could not have been present in the deal or in connection with the defendant's share in it.

Later, continued counsel for the defendant, Wise made preparations to return to China, having completed his studies in Canada. He advertised his intended departure, and had published an announcement of a farewell social tea in his honor. There had been nothing secretive about Wise's intended departure, Mr. Jackson submitted.

On arrival on this coast from Toronto, Wise engaged passage on a ship returning to China, and was arrested on capias proceedings the day before he was due to sail. Mr. Jackson said. The judgment was one obtained for a sum of about $4,000 in proceedings before the Supreme Court at Vancouver.

H. A. Maclean, K.C., for Ping Lee, the plaintiff, asked a further adjournment of the application. There was nothing on record to show that Wise was without sufficient assets to satisfy the judgment, and he wished to get in touch with plaintiff in regard to that and other phases of the issue, said Mr. Maclean.

CHIEF STATES POLICE DO NOT DISCRIMINATE

John Fry Answers Allegations Levelled Against Raids Conducted on Chinese Gambling Dens

RECORDS SHOW HOUSES RAIDED

That the city police were not discriminating in any way in their raids upon gambling dens in Chinatown was the emphatic assertion made by Chief of Police John Fry yesterday, at the city police commission meeting.

The matter was raised by Commissioner W. E. Stenland, who referred to statements made in the police court by counsel for seven Chinese charged with being inmates of a gaming house, that a number of Chinese gambling houses had been operating continuously for several weeks previous to the raid by police officers, and that on the night of the said raid all these places, with one exception, were closed up and the police department had been informed of this state of affairs.

"These places have been raided by the police from time to time, and our records show the raids that were made. The police department was not informed that half a dozen gambling places were in operation continuously up until the night of the raid when the seventeen Chinese were arrested," Chief Fry said.

The chief said he had not been notified lately of the different Chinese gambling houses that were running, and he didn't know which men belonged to the various Chinese societies and organizations.

Mr. Stenland—A few months ago the commission had a request from Chinese merchants that gambling be suppressed in Chinatown. You have been acting on this right along?

"Yes," replied the chief, "we are not discriminating against any places."

Water Towers Needed to Raise Saanich Pressure

City Engineer F. M. Preston and Saanich Engineer Hugh Allen Report on Joint Meeting of Water Committees

Increasing consumption of water in the city, consumption that had risen to 13,000,000 gallons per day during this year, and a constant increase in the number of water connections in Saanich was making the time when balancing reservoirs and a pumping system in the point in question was necessary, not far distant, it was stated in a report of the joint meeting of the Victoria and Saanich water committees, a report which was signed by City Engineer F. M. Preston and Saanich Engineer Hugh Allen.

The report, which was read at last night's meeting of the Saanich Council, was filed for discussion at a later date. The water pressure problem in Saanich has been a serious one, the councillors claim, particularly in connection with Gordon Head, where at times nothing but air comes rushing out of the pipes when the taps are turned on.

The report, in part, from the joint committee reads as follows: "In 1925, during the times of maximum drought which generally occurred between 5 and 8 o'clock on summer evenings, the total rate of consumption by the city and Gordon Head was about 10,000,000 gallons per day.

"In the summer of 1928 this had increased to the rate of 13,000,000 gallons per day, and as a consequence the minimum pressure at the Dupplin Road meter was often in the neighborhood of 104 pounds per square inch, as against probably 115 pounds in 1925.

"So far as the Gordon Head supply is concerned, a constant pressure of 104 pounds at Dupplin Road cannot give an adequate supply. The elevation of the ground at Mr. Van- dergrift's farm is 336 feet city datum, and allowing for a reasonable loss in head between the meter and Gordon Head all the pressure that could be expected at the point in question is not much below a minimum of 100 pounds per square inch.

"It seems probable, although it cannot be definitely forecast, that the Dupplin Road pressure will not fall much below a minimum of 100 pounds per square inch, the pressure at this point will be approximately eighty pounds per square inch, and before that time serious storage and distribution steps to store the supply in order to take advantage of the night pressure that would still be available. This is done in the city which feeds an average elevation considerably lower than the Gordon Head district from its water tower, taking temporary advantage of the high pressure at night for filling it. The water will come a time, and this has been put off by the acquisition of the Goldstream Waterworks, when pumping in the city will have again to be resorted to.

"Our conclusions are, therefore, that Saanich will eventually have to provide adequate storage and that in the meantime all that is required is the provision of a comparatively few individual storage tanks.

"The report also states that the city is providing at the present time all the pressure possible."

Former Federalship, Due at San Francisco Today, Held as a Ship Without Registry

OLD OFFENDER IS WELL KNOWN HERE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8.—The steamship "Aquila," forty-four years ago at the Camp and known as the Arnold, Gertrude, Federalship and La Golondrina, is due here Friday, escorted by two coastguard cutters, held as a ship without registry.

The vessel was seized 300 miles off San Francisco late Monday evening, in command of Capt. S. S. Stone, by the cutters "Tamaroa" and "Cahokia" after several shots were fired on both sides when the craft refused to leave to.

The present seizure was ordered not because the vessel is carrying liquor, but because a provisional British registry, under which the "Aquila" was transporting liquor from Amsterdam to Hongkong, had expired, and the offender is now a ship without a country, a ship amenable to the discipline of any nation.

The "Tamaroa" had been keeping surveillance over "Aquila" from the time she first appeared off the California coast and showed no intention of continuing her voyage to Shanghai, for which port she left Amsterdam in April.

After running afoul of the law in March, 1927, for carrying a cargo of liquor valued at $1,900,000, the "Aquila" was seized by the coastguard, changed to La Golondrina, and registry changed from Panama to Guatemala. More recently, when she became the "Aquila," she sailed for a short time to the Italian flag, later obtaining a provisional British registry for the trip from Amsterdam to China.

She was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. R. P. Marpole, and the best man was Mr. R. P. Baker.

Users for the occasion were Mr. Howard Cligge, Mr. Norman Lang, Mr. Vernon Furber and Mr. George Fraser.

The bride wore a robe of ivory Paris satin, with a circular skirt of tulle flanges, the train being formed by an uneven hem line lengthened at the back, and a corded bodice square neck. Two little pinks carried a train of priceless Limerick lace which was hung from a Normandy cap of orange blossoms. A tulle veil was worn, and a bouquet carried by the bride was of bridal roses and lily of the valley. Miss Frances Webb and Miss Ruth Macchilichie acted as bridesmaids. They were attired in white tulle frock, ruffled to the waistline, with gold and silver sashes and a bandeau of flowers.

Miss Monica and Miss Dalton Marpole, sisters of the bride, were the attendants. The former wore gold lame, veiled with ivory tulle edged with pink, the latter with a sash of gold. The white felt hat which she wore had a gold band, and she carried yellow chrysanthemums. Her sister, Miss Dalton Marpole, was dressed in silver lame and flesh-colored tulle, and designed the same as her sister's. Her white felt hat was banded in silver, and her flowers were pink roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother on King Edward Avenue. A bower of pink chrysanthemums and palms was arranged as a background for the bride party to receive. Mrs. Marpole, who assisted in greeting the guests, was attired in Lucerne blue transparent velvet, with hat en suite, and sable fur. The tea table was centred with the wedding cake, surrounded with pink roses and lighted with white tapers in silver sconces.

The bride and groom left for Seattle en route to California, prior to leaving for their home in Honolulu.

For travelling, the bride wore an ensemble in airway blue. The dress was of deep Rhodessa, embroidered with blue and grey. A long stole, while her coat was kaasha, collared in grey lynx. Her hat was of grey felt.

WESTERN GRAIN ROUTE PRAISED

Premier of Alberta Makes Brief Visit to City—Desire for Westward Grain Shipment

That the British Columbia producer would find the Alberta farmer ready to co-operate with him at the present time, was stated yesterday by Premier J. E. Brownlee, of Alberta, who is at present on a visit to this city in connection with the opening up of a western route to the markets of the world for the Peace River produce.

Mr. Brownlee is sanguine of the future because he thinks that the world in general, and Canada in particular, is coming to better know of his own province, he says, now lies in the development of the Pacific trade and the encouragement of the western route, in which connection he thinks it inconceivable "that the produce of so great a territory should continue to move eastward towards Edmonton, before turning westward in its natural outlet to the markets of the world."

A great step forward is imminent, in the opinion of Mr. Brownlee, and the people of British Columbia and Alberta should not be behind him in furthering the progress of their respective provinces. "It does not require much of a prophet to say that the Peace River country will be in a short time from now," he remarked.

He thinks that the whole crop of Alberta is moving steadily westward, and he maintains that the faces of the people of his province are turning towards the western coast. He gave a number of interesting figures relative to the acreage of wheat in the Peace River district. Last year this part of the Dominion produced over nine million bushels of wheat, which averaged a greater proportion to the acre than any other part of Canada, which was a clear proof, he maintained, that this district was more fertile than any other part of the Dominion at present under cultivation.

Premier Brownlee, who took the opportunity of calling upon yesterday morning, left in the afternoon for Vancouver, from which city he will proceed to Edmonton.

Queen Alexandra Review

At the last regular meeting of Queen Alexandra Review, W.B.A., Mrs. Ritchie presiding, the report of Mrs. Crocker, who convened the annual banquet held recently, showed that the affair had been a success, both socially and financially. Plans were completed for the sale of work, to be held in the K. of C. Hall, on Friday, November 23. Many attractive and useful articles are being provided. The following members will have charge of the various stalls: Fancywork, Mrs. Borden; plain sewing, Mrs. Moyle; handkerchiefs and novelties, Mrs. Winter; home cooking and candies, Mrs. Adam; afternoon tea, Mrs. Vitch. Members are asked to bring their finished work and donations for the bazaar to the next meeting, also handkerchiefs and novelties. A grocery shower will be given also at the next meeting to assist a needy member with three small children. Mrs. McAllister was appointed chairman of the organizing committee, and Mrs. Vitch chairman of the committee on resolutions. Mrs. Le Gallais, of Vancouver, provincial health supervisor, gave an interesting health talk.

Fur Fabrics Aid to Slenderness

It seemed a sorry tale to tell us when a friend asserted she had given away an expensive Persian lamb coat because she was far from slender and it added annoyingly to her apparent girth. Her ultimatum was to the effect that she preferred to freeze and look reasonably slim in a cloth coat than to be warm and ultra-plump in fur.

The solution of such a problem lies in fur fabric. Necessarily it does not possess quite the depth of pile of real fur. And it may be draped about the figure in a more slinky manner to further the promotion of slender lines. Fur fabric is by no means considered a stepchild of fashion. Indeed many of the models worked out on the lines of fur coats and with the same precision given to pellets, reach the high water mark of prices luxurious cloth coats command.

Two versions of broadtail fabric are sketched, one with a large jabot collar and deep cuffs of Jap mink, and the other in the new diagonal closing and gauntlet cuff, collared in natural lynx.

Women's Institutes of Vancouver Island

LANGFORD

The first of the Winter series of card parties under the auspices of the Women's Institute was held last evening in the hall. A wonderful collection of flowers that were grown outside in November, and used for decoration purposes, attracted much comment. Included were phlox, anthuriums, roses, pansies, chrysanthemums, etc. Refreshments were served by the social committee and directors. Bridge and five hundred were played. Mrs. Dresser and Mrs. T. Guy captured the first prizes at bridge, and Mrs. L. G. Wilkinson and Mr. Dally won the consolation prizes. First prize winners for five hundred were Miss H. Kelly and Mr. Bartle, while Mrs. Bartle and Mr. A. Cowie received the booby prizes. The prizes were donated by Mrs. A. Cowie and Miss Wilma Pike.

METCHOSIN

A well-attended meeting of the Metchosin Women's Institute was held in the hall on Wednesday afternoon. The quarterly report from the Travelers' Aid Society was read and a donation of $10 was sent to the society, and a donation of $5 to the Central Puppy Day Fund. A further donation of $10 was sent to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, and a letter of thanks read from the superintendent for eight boxes of provisions sent, which included apples, eggs, jam, jelly and bottled fruit. The net receipts of the pioneer entertainment was $14, and it was decided to pay off the debt on the hall the treasurer being instructed to pay up to $85 to the building committee.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Heigerson for making up the new curtains for the hall, the material having been presented by the Women's Institute. The secretary's salary and bonus were also voted. Tea was served after the meeting by Mesdames Pearce and Saltmarsh.

GARDEN CITY

A special meeting of the Garden City Women's Institute was held in the Marigold Hall on Wednesday afternoon. It was decided that a public meeting be held on November 26 at 8 p.m. to discuss the question of management for the hall, which is the property of the Women's Institute. All members are urged to attend. The regular fortnightly card party will be held on Friday, November 9, in the Marigold Hall.

Lectured on India

A very successful lantern lecture was held in the Cloverdale School room on Wednesday evening. The lecture was given by Mr. R. Chave, and was under the auspices of the Cloverdale Parent-Teacher Association, the subject being "A Trip Across Northern India." Mr. Percy Edmonds sang twice during the evening. The children were addressed at 7 and the adults at 8 o'clock. P.T.A. was greatly pleased at the large turnout of parents and children.

Mrs. Murphy, whose youngest son was soldiering in India, had just received a cablegram from him saying he would be coming home in a few days. Greatly excited, she ran in next door to her neighbor and imparted the wonderful news. In the course of conversation Mrs. Casey picked up the cablegram which her neighbor had dropped on the floor. "Wonderful quick things, these, ain't they?" she observed.

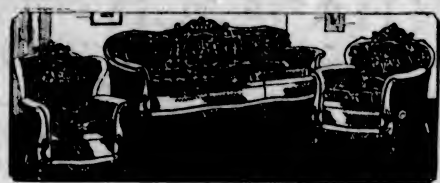

"Indeed they are," agreed the excited mother. "Quick ain't after being the word for it. Why, to be sure, the gum ain't dry yet what's on the envelope."

NEW YORK ARTIST HOLDS EXHIBITION

Mr. Leonard M. Davis, Noted Painter of E.P. Ranch Pictures, Showing Here

One of the very successful American painters of Canadian scenery, Mr. Leonard M. Davis, of New York City, is a visitor in Victoria for a short time, and this week is giving an exhibition of his pictures in the Empress Hotel, under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club.

Mr. Davis has a vivid, direct style, and a versatility of expression which seems to make him equally happy in picturing rolling prairie, snow-capped mountains, still moonlit nights, seascapes, or running streams, although in his present exhibition the mountain subject predominates. He has not been idle since arriving in Victoria, as some familiar coast scenes on canvas show, and there is a possibility that if he remains here for any length of time he may succeed in popularizing Vancouver Island in New York as he has already succeeded in advertising the Prince of Wales' E.P. Ranch, not only among his own countrymen, but in England as well. His Royal Highness, it should be noted, has purchased several of these pictures of his Canadian home. The Canadian Government purchased twenty-three of Mr. Davis' series of paintings of the E.P. Ranch, which were among the great attractions in the C.P.R. pavilion at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley in 1924. Visitors yesterday were struck by the fact that Mr. Davis' work is all done with the palette knife. The artist feels that with this medium he

VARIETY "Very Confidential." THEATRE Madge Bellamy's next starring vehicle for Fox Films, comes to the Variety Theatre on Saturday. The story, written by James K. McGuinness and Randall H. Paye, is packed with laughs and studded with thrills. Miss Bellamy, wearing some of the most stunning costumes of her cinema career, is kept busy from the opening scene until the smashing climax wherein she wins a motor race and a husband. The cast includes Pat Cunningham, Joseph Cawthorn, Mary Duncan and Marjorie Beebe.

CAPITOL "The Whip," which THEATRE opened at the Capitol Theatre yesterday, is what may be termed a "baiting picture." When First National decided to make this film version of one of the most famous Drury Lane melodramas that was ever produced on the stages of England and the world in general, it did so only after taking into consideration the innumerable problems presented. It had to be treated seriously, despite the fact that there is much of the melodrama in its composition. The characters are all types—many of them of the typical racing variety. The scenes are extremely spectacular—the culminating effect of the great wreck scene where the express crashes into the coach supposed to contain the famous racehorse known as "The Whip," is exceptionally so. On the stage is Senor Eduardo and his marionette, Lucille Enderby, the female baritone, and Sheehan and Richardson, the concert duetists, and the Capitol Stage Band and Harold Bechtel, the singing announcer.

DOMINION After "Two Lovers," THEATRE now at the Dominion Theatre, Ronald Colman is to have a new leading lady. "Two Lovers" is his fifth and last picture with Miss Banky, according to an announcement from Samuel Goldwyn. Lily Damita, who has been selected by Mr. Goldwyn as Colman's new leading lady, is a Parisienne. Her first picture in this country is Conrad's "The Rescue," in which Mr. Colman makes his first appearance as an individual star.

PLAYHOUSE Action as personified THEATRE in "The Whip" is personified in the person of Lella Hyams, loyalty as portrayed by Al Hart against treachery on the part of Estelle Taylor, and cruelty in the persons of Tom Santich and Sam DeGross give indication of the care spent in casting "Honor Bound," the Fox film now showing at the Playhouse Theatre.

COLUMBIA A race between two THEATRE parrots mounted on their backs, is an interesting human interest touch of "Ramona," Dolores Del Rio's current photoplay, now showing at the Columbia Theatre. The turtle race in "Ramona" is staged by the heroine and "Felipe," played by Roland Drew. It is one of the many novel episodes in the latest Inspiration Pictures-Edwin Carewe film production.

COLISEUM A death-bed scene that THEATRE has achieved by Director Del Lord in "Topsy and Eva," starring the Duncan Sisters, and the current film at the Coliseum Theatre. The scene is strictly a dramatic one until little "Topsy," who has escaped, comes bounding in and implores all heaven and earth to save "Eva." "His Day Off" is the title of the stage attraction which the Lee Jaxon Players are offering all this week.

"Rose Marie" Opens
At Royal Victoria
On Monday, Nov. 12

Like a refreshing breeze out of the North, so still reads the press accounts of "Rose Marie," the delightful pink-checked French-Canadian girl who has stirred up a babel of acclaim such as never before has been bestowed on a musical play. "Rose Marie," produced by Arthur Capitol—"Mad Hour," starring Alice White and Sally O'Neil.

Hammerstein, comes to the Royal Victoria Theatre, November 12 and 13, with a Thanksgiving matinee. "Rose Marie," book and lyrics by Otto Harbach and Oscar Hammerstein 2nd, has the unusual characteristic of having a real plot that will catch the most sophisticated and which is carefully carried through to a successful conclusion. Its numerous enchanting airs, from the seemingly inspired fingers of Rudolf Friml and Herbert Stothart, are musically to a degree, and withal, lingering in their expert simplicity. The humor is genuine and the specially selected cast extracts every ounce of value from this musical play such as comes but once in a lifetime.

FAKE LICENCE CONFISCATED

FORGED LICENCE FOR AIR PILOT DISCOVERED IN VANCOUVER CITY

Displayed by Holder When Asking for Financial Aid—Resembles Stock Certificate

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—A forged pilot licence, decorated with all the flourishes of a stock certificate and filled with quaint misspellings, has been forwarded to the Department of National Defence by air force officials in Vancouver for such action against the holder as appears advisable.

The extraordinary document, which is stated to be a palpable fraud, was found on the person of J. J. Percie, according to the letter from Vancouver, but is made out in the name of P. N. Fraser. A decision as to legal action will await the return of C. J. Desbarats, deputy minister, who is making an inspection of Western defence units. It was alleged by those furnishing the document that the holder was using it to obtain financial assistance. Information obtained at Vancouver indicated it came from Chicago and from its curious construction officials here believe it is the product of a press used for the production of curious liquor labels.

Miss Grace Thurlow, the young Atlanta school teacher whose resignation had been asked for because she smokes cigarettes, was arguing with an old lady at tea. "Cigarette smoking—bah!" snorted the old lady. "Cigarette smoking is a nasty, manly habit. It makes girls like men."

"On the contrary," said Miss Thurlow, who is very popular among the Atlanta intelligentsia—"on the contrary, ma'am, it makes men like girls."

Dismissed Premier Refuses to Enter
Any Cabinet Headed by Leaders Suggested

BUCHARIST, Nov. 8.—Nicholas Titulescu, pressed by the regency to terminate Rumania's political crisis and restore credit abroad to any cost, made valiant efforts today to form a national coalition cabinet, but late tonight had not succeeded. He spent almost the entire day in earnest conversation with Mr. Bratiano, whose resignation as Premier was requested by the regency a few days ago, and with Julius Maniu, Peasant Party leader, urging them to "bury the hatchet" and put their country's welfare and honor above mere party differences. Still smarting under his summary dismissal from the cabinet by the regency, Bratiano told M. Titulescu brusquely that he declined to enter any cabinet formed either by Titulescu himself or Maniu.

West Indies Good Market For Canada

Study of recent statistics indicates that the effect of the treaty of 1925 between Canada and the British West Indies has been an immediate and reasonably large increase in the value of this trade—an increase of $11,000,000, or about 33 per cent in three years, says the monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada. Canadian imports from the British West Indies during the twelve months ending July 30, 1928, amounted to $25,000,000 as compared with $18,000,000 in the corresponding months of 1925, and in 1926 exports amounted to $19,000,000 as compared with $15,000,000 in 1925.

While a superficial statement of this trade relationship may make it seem disproportionately favorable in favor of the West Indies, a closer analysis of the preferential tariff rates granted by the British West Indies, and of the potential volume of their imports, would seem to indicate that Canadian exporters have not yet taken full advantage of the benefits of this treaty.

Readjustment in the channels of trade for basic commodities takes place at a more rapid rate than changes in the distribution of manufactured goods. So far as this trade consists of imports of sugar, molasses, and the export of flour, fish and lumber, the adaptation to the new conditions is well advanced. So far as this will consist of an increase in the Canadian exports of manufactured goods and an increase in imports of bananas, oranges and grapefruit, however, the expansion has been delayed by the lack of satisfactory transportation facilities and of marketing organizations which will popularize the products of the West Indies in Canada and the products of Canada in the British West Indies.

MUST ORGANIZE MARKET
Now that ships and refrigeration have been provided and harbor facilities improved, the next step in the organization of marketing. Representative men from the British West Indies have visited Canada to study Canadian methods of mar-

The Story Behind the Play

By J. J. GELLER

"Hazel Kirke"

"Until Death Do Us Part," a Scene From the World Premiere of Hazel Kirke on October 27, 1879

TO have written, produced, directed and acted in one of the most successful plays of all time and yet fail to reap any of the large financial rewards, was the unfortunate experience of Steele Mackaye and his drama, "Hazel Kirke." In New York City alone the play ran for two consecutive years and piled up a fortune for two brothers, who had induced Mackaye to sign a long-term contract, whereby the latter agreed to assign the "entire product of his intellectual labor and skill" for $5,000 and profits, under certain conditions.

Players who have been following the fortunes of American drama can vouch for the popularity of "Hazel Kirke." During a period of forty years it was produced some 5,000 times in America, England, Australia, Japan and elsewhere. At one time some ten different companies were presenting "Hazel Kirke" simultaneously. Despite this imposing record, the dramatist failed to receive any royalty. He had signed his bright away for the opportunity of putting his play before the public.

"Hazel Kirke" was written during the Summer of 1878 in the village of Dublin, N.H. The author created a plot that hinged on the stern will of Dunstan Kirke, owner of a mill situated by a small stream at the mouth of the Merrimack. The play was originally titled "An Iron Will," but while the author was at work upon the manuscript on the porch of his New England home one day his keeping fruits and vegetables. Banks, shipping companies and merchants have been consulted concerning the best form of marketing organization. Canadian produce dealers have been interviewed about best seasons for sales, details concerning packing and the necessity for the standardization of the quality of fruit and vegetables. Dedicated efforts are being made to secure the co-operation of exporters and producers throughout the British West Indies in creating an influential marketing organization. This organization must be adequately financed so that it can also direct its efforts toward the popularization of West Indian produce in Canada. The Canadian-West Indian League has used its influence throughout the islands to secure general recognition of the importance of Canada as a market for British West Indian products.

The Canadian-West Indian League, the Exports Club, of Montreal and Toronto, and the Commercial Intelligence Service, in Ottawa, have co-operated in spreading information among Canadian manufacturers concerning the extent of the generous preferences which have been granted by the British West Indies. Numerous individual manufacturers have asked their bankers and the Canadian Commercial Intelligence Service to secure consumption statistics, tariff rates and other information designed to assist them in exporting to the West Indies. In each country there has been well-organized effort to promote this trade and to foster the interest of those merchants and producers who will ultimately secure the greatest benefit from the provisions of the treaty.

PREFERENCE REAL
For the Canadian manufacturer who wishes to sell in the West Indian market, a knowledge of the extent of the preference granted on his particular products is of prime importance. In British Guiana, the general tariff on boots and shoes amounts to 90 per cent ad valorem, but the duty on boots and shoes from Canada is only 30 per cent. In Barbados, the general tariff is 30 per cent, and that on Canadian boots and shoes is only 10 per cent, and in most of the other islands the general rate is 20 per cent as compared with 10 per cent on Canadian goods. Yet, as late as 1926, the value of the shoes from the United States sold in the British West Indies was some six times as great as the value of the Canadian shoes sold in this market. Throughout most of the islands the preferential rate on Canadian flour is sufficient to give Canadian millers a monopoly. Canadian butter now dominates the market and the amount imported from the United States is rapidly decreasing.

The Maritime Provinces have always taken advantage of the opportunities afforded by this trade. Quite aside from the export of fish, lumber and potatoes, there is a reasonable prospect that some lines of manufacture which might not be profitable otherwise in the Maritime

ERROR IN CABLE

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—The Canadian Press on October 9 erroneously reported the death in England of Rear-Admiral Harry Rowlandson Godfrey, C.B., D.S.O., R.N., retired.

The cablegram received from London clearly stated Admiral Godfrey, but another cablegram today explains that it should have read Admiral Godfrey, Harry Bridges Mundy, C.B., D.S.O., M.V.O. The Canadian Press much regrets the error.

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swellings in Knee, Elbow, Shoulder or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's here, right in town and MacFarlane Drug Co. and every live druggist has it. It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints. Joint-Ease is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments. Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and blessed comfort comes quickly. It absorbs instantly and is so clean and stainless that you can rub it on often and get thereby results much more quickly when the joint is inflamed and the agony intense. Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago, and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy. But you must remember that it is for joint ailments that it is mostly dispensed and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed. (Adv.)

Company to Seek Charter To Use Radiotelephony

System Is Believed to Be Solution of Communication With Scattered Places on Island and Along the British Columbia Coast

Because physical difficulties make it impracticable to connect many outlying parts of British Columbia with the larger centres by means of telephone wires, plans are under way for the formation of a company to give long distance telephone service to such points by the aid of radiotelephony, according to an announcement made by Mr. George H. Halse, chairman of the board of directors of the B.C. Telephone Company.

Under its charter the British Columbia Telephone Company has no power to go into the radiotelephone business, explained Mr. Halse, in a statement. "It has become obvious to the executives of the company, however, that the radiotelephone offers the only practical method of giving service to many outlying points, and consequently we propose to form a separate company to carry out this work. The name of the new company will be the Provincial Telephone Company, and a charter will be sought at the next session of the Provincial Legislature. The necessary advertisements to comply with the legal requirements are now being published."

WOULD HELP WEST COAST
"During the past Summer I visited the West Coast of Vancouver Island for the purpose of studying the question of giving telephone service to the many industries scattered along that rugged shore. Through an arrangement with the Dominion Government it has been possible to give telephone service—of a sort—to some of these places over the Government telegraph lines after telegraph hours, and we have further plans for improving this service; but still it will not take care of a great number of points which cannot be reached by wire. The conditions that prevail on the Island exist also on the Mainland coast, where we find such points as Ocean Falls, Prince Rupert, Anxox, Stewart, etc., incapable of being reached by telephone wires from the south, owing to the obstacles which would make the cost prohibitive. Other examples are the Queen Charlotte Islands and the Peace River country."

"The executive of the B.C. Telephone Company have been watching carefully the development of radiotelephony, and we believe that in this branch of the communication art lies the solution for our problem of serving such communities as I have mentioned. "Our plan is to operate radiotelephone service in conjunction with our present wired service, so that a person in one part of the province may be able to pick up his telephone receiver, ask for a person in another part of the province, and talk to him by a combination wired telephone and radiotelephone circuit, as is now being done across the Atlantic Ocean."

CHECK ON ISOLATION
"This would mean that men in isolated logging camps, for instance, would be able to 'ring up' Vancouver business men in their own offices and hold conversations with them just as if calling parties were right in the same city. It is not difficult to imagine what a boon such a service would be. Another development would be the giving of the same service to coasting vessels plying in British Columbia waters."

"These are our plans. There are many problems to be solved before we attain success, but we feel that there are no people in a better position to develop a communication service for the outlying points than the men who are at present supplying most of the telephone service in British Columbia. Our project will be carried forward with the cooperation of both the provincial and Federal authorities."

POTTERY AND PEANUTS BEFORE TARIFF BOARD

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—Before the Tariff Advisory Board yesterday, R. J. Deachman, Ottawa, representing the International Clay Products, Ltd., Estevan, Sask., asked for the removal of the existing duty on pottery machinery, which ranges from 27 1/2 to 30 per cent. There was no opposition to the application. Pottery machinery is not manufactured in Canada, owing to its present limited demand, and it was submitted that the removal of duty would permit the Canadian clay products manufacturer to compete on a more equitable basis with the United States manufacturer.

Representing the confectionery, biscuit and chocolate industries of the Dominion, C. J. Bodley submitted a brief asking for a 90 per cent tariff drawback on nuts used for home consumption, shelled in Canadian factories. The application also requested that peanuts in the shell, green or shelled, only be admitted free under the British preferential 5 per cent intermediate and 1 per cent general tariff. The board will meet again November 20.

The Talk of the Town

First Lady: "Have you visited Mrs. Jones lately?"

Second Lady: "No, my dear. Why?"

First Lady: "You remember the gone-to-pieces look her kitchen had—dingy linoleum, worn floors, scratched woodwork—said she never could do anything with them because it was next to impossible to keep the children away until the varnish could dry hard?"

Second Lady: "Yes, I remember."

First Lady: "Well you ought to see it now—all freshly finished bright as a new pin. You'd never recognize it!"

Second Lady: "How did she manage to do it?"

First Lady: "Why, my dear, she used the new Quick Drying Clear Satin-Glo—haven't you heard of it—it's the talk of the town. Mrs. Jones saw it advertised—got a tin down town—then when the children had gone to school one morning, she started in—finished the floor, woodwork and furniture in no time—and it was actually dry to walk on when the children came home from school."

Second Lady: "What did her husband say?"

First Lady: "Say? Why he took her to a show that night, and on Saturday bought some Satin-Glo Clear himself—refinished all the floors after the children were in bed, and by morning they were as dry as a bone. Mrs. Jones says it's wearing well too and is unaffected by hot or cold water."

Second Lady: "How wonderful! I must get a can—my cupboards need freshening up and the chairs can do with a little too."

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"No," she agreed quickly, "I never could do that, and I don't believe Marianne would. But it is nice to feel that one's children will have a comfortable home — schooling — friends —"

Her voice stopped abruptly, and he saw the shine of quick tears on her lashes. She was biting her lip, swallowing hard, smiling, and putting Link's hand to her forehead and dropping her head over the baby's head. For a long minute or two the tears had to have their way.

"The maddening part of a sharp sickness," she presently said with an apologetic laugh, "is in a voice that straddled on the words, 'especially when it is one's first sickness, is that it makes one such a cry baby. Nerves, perhaps. These creatures, she added, drawing a long restorative breath and smiling down at the baby, 'these creatures are great responsibilities.'"

She put the baby carefully back into the basket and moved about the kitchen with the ease of long familiarity. Quite simply and deftly she lighted two candles on the mantel and smiled.

"Glass of milk, Link?"

"I'd love it!"

"And would you have a piece of bread and butter?" Barbara asked her guest simply. "We have sweet butter today."

Link thought of the girls in Cottonwood, of Ines' tea table, all silver and glitter, all damp little oozing sandwiches, ranged pastel-colored peppermint tablets and rich walnut cookies; of Ines lounging in lace and ribbons, and Marianne smoking cigarette after cigarette, and reddening her lips with every sip of tea. This was very different hospitality; he was hungry after his ride and he felt its charm poignantly and surprisingly.

Barbara cut home-made whole-wheat bread; the big loaf was clumsy and amateurish in shape, but the crusty slice was delicious and the fast had all the elements of perfection—good company, firelight and appetite.

"How long were you and Barry engaged, Barbara?"

She smiled, glanced at him wide-eyed.

"Why, but we weren't engaged at all, of course. That is, except from eleven o'clock on a Saturday morning until exactly noon, when we were married."

"But you had an understanding?"

"No, Barry and I fell in love with each other after we were married—we've often talked of it," Barbara said. "Suddenly that morning there didn't seem to be any reason why we shouldn't be married—it was rather like the line of least resistance," she confessed cheerfully. "Of course," Barbara went on laughing, "there was every reason in the world against it, but we didn't know that then."

"How do you mean every reason in the world?" Link asked, with his puzzled, honest frown.

"Why, financial reasons first foremost and always," Barbara answered. "And then professionally, too. Barry shouldn't ever have been burdened with a wife and child. And temperamentally, he is a person of man who worries frightfully when the woman he loves needs anything, and yet who is too much of a little boy to go out and get it for her. But, however," she finished sensibly and contentedly, "married he is, and likely to remain so, and there you are. I don't think most persons think much about marriage before they're in it," Barbara added conversationally, finishing her milk with great satisfaction. "I don't think they care. These are bound to turn out entirely different from what one expects, and the main thing is—the main thing is," she finished philosophically and in a whimsical light, "one did not entirely deceive him, 'that there's nothing so happy in the world as marriage, and nothing at all like having a bold girl like Kate here on the premises.'"

"Suppose anyone, you and Barry, for instance, had been engaged a long time," Link began, with a quiet transparent attempt at generalities, "and suppose you felt that you would rather pull out of it. Would that be—would that be—a decent thing to do?"

"It would be the decent thing to do," Barbara answered promptly. "But if you're asking me," she added, "I would never have had the courage for it. I hate to face issues and take stands. And I should imagine that a lot of other persons—your, for instance, Link," she added smiling, "would be worse than I am about it. It takes character to manage, not only your own will, but your own vacillations," she finished.

"Barbara," said Link suddenly out of a silence during which each had been staring thoughtfully into the fire, lost in the train of their own thoughts, "I'll tell you. I don't think Marianne and I care for each other as we did—as we ought to. It seems to me that it would have been a terrible mistake to marry a year ago, when we first talked about it, before I knew about her first marriage."

"Well, if you had married then," Barbara suggested thoughtfully and a little hesitatingly, "so many other emotions and experiences would have taken the places of all the love-making and engagement feelings, that you would be—"

she groped for words—"that you can't say you wouldn't have been happy," she said. "But, long engagements are terrible. That first—that first wild excitement of discovery isn't intended to last indefinitely," she submitted.

"We quarrel," Link confessed miserably. "And then the minute we've parted she writes me these frantic notes begging me to forgive her." He paused. "My sister Margaret and my father—as I was telling you—think," he added frowningly and a little ashamedly, "that it's partly because Marianne cares about money that she is glad to be marrying where there is plenty of it."

"And don't you think there may be some truth in that, Link?" Barbara asked, studying his face thoughtfully as he stopped short.

"Well, if there is," he said almost a little defiantly, "I don't blame her. I'm not so stuck on myself that I expect a girl to go crazy over the idea of cooking and washing for me for the next forty years. And that makes it all the harder to break it off," he ended scowling.

"You mean you really would like to break it off, Link?" Barbara asked straightforwardly.

"I think so, now—for awhile. Even if after a while it all began again," he admitted, distressed. "A man sounds like an awful cad talking like this. But she sprang the news of her first marriage on me only after we were actually talking of being married immediately," he went on. "I don't blame her—she's a nervous little thing and she was all worked up and so distressed and worried she didn't know what to do. But from then on—I've felt I was an awful rotter, engaged to a woman who really was tied to another man."

"That's part of the trouble," added Link as Barbara studied his face intently, was silent. "She loathes this boulder of a Scott so, she's detested the thought of him for so long that actually she feels free. I don't feel she's free. I can't. And Marianne's different from other women," he argued, incoherently, one thought of thought to follow another. "She has no mother, her father is married to a woman she hates. She's affectionate. And for a whole year now," Link finished, with an apologetic grin for his hearer, "I've felt that I was getting in wrong—more and more wrong—because I'm not the one to make the break."

All-Canadian
Labor Congress
Not Communist

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Resumption of relations between the Canadian and Russian Governments in the interests of Canadian trade was urged in a resolution adopted yesterday at the conclusion of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor.

Denial of a report that delegates of Communist nature were at the convention was made by A. R. Mosher, president of the congress.

"We embrace no Communists in this Congress, and we have no use for them," he said. "We are a unitary brotherhood working for Canadian unions and representing Canadian labor."

After a protracted debate, the congress endorsed the policy of President A. R. Mosher and his executive board, which urged the national trade union movement to give effect to a programme of co-operation between capital and labor, "whatever mutuality of interest can be demonstrated."

The report of the executive board asking the convention to concur in efforts to secure representation for the congress on the C.N.R. and at the international land office was the international labor office was

HAGEN, FARRELL GIVE FINE DISPLAY AT COLWOOD

Dame Rumor Wins in Hornsby's Trade to Cubs Baseball Team

Chance of Boston Getting Sunday Games Looks Good, But "Rajah" Traded Despite Assertions—Deal Given Wide Publicity

By Walter Trumbull
(Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

The Sunday sports referendum having passed in Massachusetts and the anti-boxing bill having been killed in California, the results of the election were eminently satisfactory to the fans.

One candidate running true to form was Dame Rumor. It was said that if there was a chance of Sunday baseball in Boston, Rogers Hornsby would be retained. It looks as if there were a good chance for Sunday baseball in Boston, so Hornsby has been traded to Chicago.

This deal was, to be sure, on the fire as long ago as the time of the world's series, which has given everyone concerned several weeks in which to deny it. That, from a point of view of baseball politics, was perfectly good strategy. The time to announce it officially was when it would get the publicity it deserved.

It might have been better to hold it a bit longer, but this was difficult, as everyone knew it with the exception of Hornsby and the clubs involved. Hornsby, at least, never denied it. He merely said frankly that he would be content to play anywhere where the money grew and to give his best for value received.

A GREAT MONEY PLAYER
Hornsby talked to me about the Chicago team last September. He said that it had a great pitching staff and that he believed it would have won the flag if it had been a stronger road team. With Hornsby it will be a stronger road team and a better team all around. Rogers is a great baseball player when he senses a chance for the pennant. Andy Cohen is a good man, but he isn't the Rajah, and it is likely that the difference cost the Giants the bunting this past season.

For Hornsby, Boston gets a good second baseman, a young catcher, one veteran and two young pitchers, and a couple of hundred thousand dollars. If they manage to let all the newcomers in succession hit in place of Hornsby they may make his average. And $200,000, if properly applied, carries a fine punch.

Judge Emil Fuchs proposes to manage the Braves from the bench. There are other owners who would like the team from the box office, but the Ross team's defence, with Eddie Shore, Captain F. Hittman and George Hal Winkler, looks about the strongest in the league. Winkler had more than any other net man in the circuit last season, and Ross, to protect the team more fully in the cage, purchased Cecil Thompson, a right-handed pitcher, from the Boston Braves.

the bench is something else again. The judge, of course, has had considerable bench experience, but the bench was not in a dugout. He hasn't seen anything yet. Still, if the judge wants to try it, we're for him. At least, the first time a judge pulls a dumb play the judge will be so busy holding John that he won't have any time left to worry. Certainly the Hornsby trade was a good financial deal. The Boston club saves his $40,000 salary and has $200,000 to spend on big league talent or promising minor leaguers. The only trouble then will be to persuade other clubs to sell the stars and to find minor leaguers who show something beyond promise.

EVERS WILL ASSIST JUDGE
And Judge Fuchs will have John Evers to help him. No man knows more about baseball than Evers, and the first time a judge pulls a dumb play the judge will be so busy holding John that he won't have any time left to worry. ROSS THINKS BRUINS BEST IN N.H. LOOP

Team Will Have All Regulars Out for Opening Games Against Pittsburgh Pirates—Many Veterans

FREDRICKSON HOLDS POSITION

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—The Boston Bruins have the best-looking hockey squad in the National Hockey League, according to Manager Art Ross, who has started his fifth year in charge of the team. Dave Gill, of Chicago, is the only manager in the league who has been located in the same city and with the same club for a longer period than Ross. The Bruins have a nucleus of veterans from last year's team, which won the Prince of Wales Cup and the American Division championship, only to lose out in its fight with the New York Rangers to enter the play for the Stanley Cup and the world's title.

The Ross team's defence, with Eddie Shore, Captain F. Hittman and George Hal Winkler, looks about the strongest in the league. Winkler had more than any other net man in the circuit last season, and Ross, to protect the team more fully in the cage, purchased Cecil Thompson, a right-handed pitcher, from the Boston Braves.

WATER GALA WILL HAVE BIG ENTRY

Vancouver Sending Over Large Delegation for Canadian and B.C. Title Events at Garden Monday

ERNE PEDEN IN MAINLAND SQUAD

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8.—Many Vancouver swimmers will cross the Gulf this week-end to compete in the sixteenth annual gala of the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club at the Crystal Garden Monday night.

In the fifty-yard event, J. Jaquet, of the Technical School and Y.M.C.A.; J. Lamb, Crescent A.S., and Alex. Gordon, of V.A.S.C., have filed entries. For the fifty-yard girls' junior British Columbia title, Irene Lamb, Florence Clark and Marion Shelly, will compete. The fifty yards men's championship will attract Johnny Bayley, Vancouver; A. Vidal, Meriloma; M. Abernethy, Meriloma; and Ron Wilson, Vancouver and Varsity A.S.C. Fred Denon and Percy Norman, of the Vancouver A.S.C., will take part in the men's distance pool, and the latter along with George Burrows and Johnny Bayley will contest the 500-yard Columbia free style title.

ERNE PEDEN COMING

Gordon Baker and Ernie Peden, of the Varsity A.S.C., with Laurie Liddle and Karl Rolph, Meriloma A.S.C., will take part in the men's three-mile board fancy diving title.

The Vancouver A.S.C. and the Meriloma A.S.C. will compete in the 200-yard relay for the British Columbia championship under the V.A.S.C.

K. Davidson and Doris Parkes, of the Vancouver A.S.C., along with Molly Edwards, of the West Vancouver A.S.C., are among the entries for the one-mile board ladies' fancy diving event for provincial honours.

J. Jaquet, of the Technical School, and Ron Wilson, of the Varsity A.S.C., are competing for the 100-yard British Columbia school championship.

Vancouver will send over a polo team to oppose Victoria.

Hagen and Lineham went one up on the first hole. Here Hagen bagged one of the shots of the day. His drive was hooked under a tree, off the fairway, but Hagen pulled out a number two iron and planned the ball about eight feet past the pin. He secured a birdie three by a magnificent putt on the hilly carpet. The rest had five, although all had putts for four. Farrell squared the match at the second. The United States champion was over in two, but led a mauling clip-stiff, while the "Haig" three-putted from twenty-five feet.

A LUCKY HOP

Hagen, Stein and Lineham found trouble on the third, and Farrell, after his brute had luckily heaved the ditch, won the hole with a four. Lineham's putt for a half tottered on the edge of the cup, but failed to drop.

Much amusement was caused by water at the short fourth hole. Farrell was pin high about twenty feet to the left, while Stein was short about the same distance. Hagen's number four iron was about six feet short, but resting in a puddle of water. Stein was short on his approach putt and went for a three, but the ball hit in the water and rested on the lip. Farrell pulled dead for a three. Hagen would not lift his ball clear of the water and his putt splashed in the miniature lake, about a foot from the hole and stayed there. Lineham was short on his tee-shot.

Hagen and Farrell each birdied the long fifth, both sinking good- sized putts.

Harold Lineham threw away a chance to win the sixth hole, by three-putting the green and took five with the rest of the quartette. Harold had two fine wood shots and was in good position. Hagen hooked his drive and hit a tree to the left, while Farrell was short in two.

Farrell and Hagen halved the short seventh, with the former pulling off a spectacular downhill chip, which hit the back of the cup and bounced over. Hagen was ten feet over the pin. Both the amateur members were over the green and took two putts.

ANOTHER FINE SHOT

The eighth was also halved. Here Hagen pulled off a shot which was perfect except for length. He was close to an oak on the right of the fairway and his shot to the green required lowness for the first ten feet and height the rest of the distance. Hagen hit a beautiful mashie-niblick, but it caught the top of the trap to the right and fell back. His recovery from the pit was within two feet of the hole, for an easy four. Farrell hit a tremendous drive at this hole, but could do no better than a par. Lineham played a perfect hole for a half, and Hagen did not putt.

Hagen and Lineham squared the match at the ninth with four against five. Lineham sank a splendid putt, with Hagen in good position. Farrell was bunkered on his second, and Stein was short.

All players paired the tenth hole, with Hagen playing a beautiful shot over the trees on the right after his drive had hit a tree and stopped short. Lineham and Hagen drove the eleventh green and went one up when they were down in three. Farrell ailed his drive, and his putt for a half hit the hole, but bounced out. Stein, after hooking his drive, was no better than his partner.

Farrell and Hagen halved the twelfth in four. The pair were short in two, but put the ball close enough to hole heavily looking putt.

HIDDES THIRTEENTH

A beautiful mashie niblick, after a well-hit drive, which put the ball six feet from the pin, and a fine putt, gave Hagen a birdie three on the thirteenth. Lineham and Hagen each had easy fives, and Stein were two down. Lineham had already halved with Farrell when the "Haig" slipped the ball into the cup.

Three-putting the next green by Stein, after Hagen had bunkered with his third, cost his side the fourteenth. Lineham and Hagen each had easy fives, and Stein looked as if he would break into the lead when he had a ten-foot putt for the hole. After missing the putt and going a couple of feet over the Seattle amateur did not take his time, and missed the putt for a half. Hagen pulled a fast one over the cup, and after the other three had missed putts for a four, he stepped up and holed

Market Turns Somersault Toward Close When Bears Make Raid—Total Sales Cross 5,000,000 Mark

PRICES IMPROVE IN BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The stock market rose dizzily forward in response to a flood of extra dividends today and turned a somersault when struck by a strategically-timed bear raid in the final hour of trading.

The total sales crossed the 5,000,000 share mark for the second time in history, and the ticker was so congested that it did not record the final transaction until an hour and a quarter after the closing gong, the longest day on record.

There was a rush to sell out before the close, with the result that final quotations were irregular, both gains and losses running to about 10 points in some cases.

The late reaction sent Montgomery Ward down 20 points from its high record price of 372 recorded earlier, it then rallied, however, closing with a net gain of 7. Wright Aero soared about 12 points, then tumbled about 15 points, then rallied for a net gain of about 8 points. Oil—utilities and copper encountered heavy profit-taking.

Greene Cananea shot up about 7 points, then lost about 5. Kennecott dropped 3 points.

In the oil, Standard of New Jersey crossed its previous high and closed about a point up. Marland suffered a net loss of about 2 points, while Sinclair lost 3.

General Motors mounted to within a fraction of its previous high, but

LOCAL RUGGERS LEAVE TONIGHT FOR FINAL GAME

Coach Cook Will Probably Field Weakest Team of Season Against U.B.C. Tomorrow Afternoon

WESTMINSTER TO PLAY VANCOUVER

Coach Ernie Cook will board the steamer bound for Vancouver tonight, with his squad of United Commercial Traveller gridlers, to play their last game of the season against the University of British Columbia in the "Big Four" Canadian Rugby League. The genial coach will probably field one of the weakest twelves this season when his team takes the field against the U.B.C. on the Mainland tomorrow afternoon. The squad will be minus some of their main stalwarts, including Jack Horne, vice-captain and flying wing; Larry Henderson, clever half; Cyril Wightman, outside, and Ed Norby, inside. However, no matter how weak the team will be, the local ruggerers are expected to give the champions one of the hardest battles of the season. The last meeting of the squads was the best contest of the year, when Varsity nosed out the local crew by a 14-12 score.

The team will probably line up as follows: Benny McMillan, quarter-back; Frank Skillings, flying wing; Roy Gaunt, Don Newell and Brian Hunning as halves; Dim Johnson, Bernie Kinsman and Ronnie Mawhood as insides; Joe McAllister and Jack McDonald as middles; Ed de Blaquiere, Roy Pratt, Bill Lemm and Bill Emery as outsides; Campbell Forbes at snap position and Percy Owens as a spare man for the same place.

The Mainland team will be selected from the following: Smith, Watson, Camozzi, Pearce, Cliffe, Jackson, Odium, Coleman, Duncan, Cummings, Berio, Cruick, Dixon, Gillanders, Grauer, Wentworth, Diron and Shields.

While the U.B.C. are entertaining the local team, the New Westminster Royals will be battling the Vancouver Rugby team on their home lot.

CUP-TIE SOCCER GAMES CARDED

Victoria City and Saanich
Thistles Will Meet in Feature Tilt at Beacon Hill
Park Grounds

GREENSHIRTS TO BATTLE FIVE C'S

Can the Saanich Thistles mete out a second defeat to Victoria City? This is the question that is being asked in local soccer circles today, but not even the most ardent fan will come forward and answer the question. It is not to be wondered at, however, as the city has a clever and fast aggregation, one that when on form plays the best soccer in the city. On the other hand, the Saanich Thistles are every bit as fast and just a little more aggressive.

In their game with the City last week, when Saanich lost to Victoria 2-0, the aggressiveness of Thistles stood out like a star on a dark night, with the result that they stopped their opponents from playing their usual game.

Tomorrow these teams will meet again, not in a league fixture but in a cup semi-final. The scene of battle will be the same as on the previous week, namely Beacon Hill Park, with the kick-off at 2:30 o'clock. In the event of a tie half an hour overtime will be played.

As far as can be ascertained from the respective camps, very little change will be seen in the line-ups of the opposing teams.

The other Milton Cup semi-final will bring together Victoria West and the Five C's at the Royal Athletic Park. Here, too, the kick-off will be at 2:30 o'clock. The Green-shirts, at full strength, should come through with a win here. However, the C's have been great fighters in cup-tie soccer, and there is no law that says they cannot win tomorrow's game.

The teams will be as follows: Saanich Thistles—Rogers, Joe Crowe, Harper, Campbell, Viggers, Jim Crowe, Morehouse, D'Arcy, Essler, Minnis and Ewing.

Victoria West—Hetherington, Hawkes and Sherratt, Passmore, Peden, Popham, Jim Sherratt, Stewart, Plump, Borde and Thompson.

Five C's—Willoughby, Church, Harwood, Shanks, Sands, Moulton, Sutton, Hamer, Qualtrough, Barns, well and Overton. Reserve, Groves.

The Braves' owner, Judge Fuchs, will assume Hornsby's place at helm of Boston Nationals.

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Judge Emil E. Fuchs, who is a New York City magistrate before he became president of the Boston Braves, has been named to the bench in the National League.

After selling Rogers Hornsby, his last season's manager and the leading batsman in the National League, to the Chicago Cubs, the judge, who received his early baseball training on New York sandlots, was prevailed upon by his associates to become managing-owner.

The trade rumors which had been circulated since the world series failed to excite Boston's baseball public much, but Judge Fuchs' statement that he intended to run the Braves ball club on and off the field was received with amazement.

The Braves' executive announced the trade by showing baseball writers a letter which Hornsby addressed to him.

"I want to assure you as we part," Hornsby wrote, "that when I first suggested the Chicago trade I was actuated by a feeling of friendship, loyalty and unselfishness. I received from you the best treatment and advice, together with such kindness and thoughtfulness, that I leave you and your associates with deep regret. I gave the best I had in me and you always trusted and applauded me."

After announcing that he had engaged Johnny Evers, who helped to bring a world's championship to Boston in 1914, when he was captain of the Braves, as his chief assistant, Judge Fuchs expressed the hope that Evers would inspire the team with his aggressive and hustling spirit.

Chicago Boxing Promoter Banned

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—James Mullen, Chicago boxing promoter, has been deprived of the privilege of promoting boxing shows by the Illinois State Athletic Commission.

The commission yesterday suspended Mullen indefinitely and revoked his license for failure to pay $100,000 within the required forty-eight hours, after his shade Devos show at the Coliseum, November 2.

MAIN EVENT IS WON BY CALLUM

Clever Boxer Given Call
Over Charlie Storch in Plenty of Action

YOUNG MCCOY PUTS
MURRAY TO SLEEP

Fighting in the main event of last night's amateur boxing show at the Thilcum Athletic Club's gymnasium, the clever and shifty Joe Callum gave Charlie Storch a boxing lesson in three fast rounds.

Storch, who had been touted as a champion, showed a willingness to mix, and Callum hit Storch with everything but the sleep producer. In the first round a right hook to the head sent Storch to the canvas, but he took no count. Storch made a good showing against a man who is by far the better boxer. In the second round Callum slipped to his knees and Storch, in his eagerness to win, put one of his gloves to his opponent's head. He was warned by the referee, but he continued to use the canvas twice in the first round, and when Hannah rose to his feet for the second time groggy, Dawley tried to polish him off, but failed.

The apparently defeated man made a comeback and was on the verge of putting Dawley away before the bout ended. They weighed 155 pounds.

SPAVEN GETS CALL
The ranker Walter Spaven was the referee's decision over Bob Hawkes after an interesting bout. Hawkes, at a great disadvantage on account of a cut on his forehead, was able to weather the storm. The boys fought at 125 pounds.

The apparently defeated man made a comeback and was on the verge of putting Dawley away before the bout ended. They weighed 155 pounds.

McIntyre fought three rounds to a draw. The boys did everything but kiss each other in a bout that was more of a burlesque show than a scrap. In the first round O'Rourke gave McIntyre everything he had, but the lad managed to cover up and avoid any great punishment.

McIntyre landed most of his blows during the argument, and to give a draw was about the best thing the judges could do for such a bout.

Young Fitzpatrick and Tommy McInnes fought three rounds to a draw. The boys fought at 75 pounds.

In the curtain-raiser, Young Buxton was given the call over Ted Bailey. They fought at 64 pounds.

The card produced plenty of thrills for the few who were in attendance.

Rumors of Jack Dempsey's Ring Return Flying

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Once more there are signs and portents that widespread public demand will bring Jack Dempsey out of his quiet retirement and into the ring again.

Despite vigorous assertions by the one-time Manassa Mauler that his fighting days are over, day by day the evidence piles up that Dempsey soon will don the gloves and battle again for the fame and wealth the ring has already given him.

These constantly recurring reports of another Dempsey comeback gathered more credence among the close followers of the ring when the former heavyweight champion entered training yesterday at a local gymnasium.

One of the most promising youngsters uncovered by Pittsburgh this year is Fred Fuzze, pitcher with Wichita Falls in the Texas League last year.

DERBY COUNTY H A V E TOUGH ENGAGEMENT

English League Leaders
Billed to Meet Leicester
City in Important Football Fixture Tomorrow

MOTHERWELL WILL TAKE ON CELTIC

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Blackburn Rovers, cup holders and disposers of the leadership in the averages of the first division of the English Football League last week, will have a chance to get back again next Saturday. They are at home to Bury, the bottom team in the table, while Derby County, who are contenders for the leadership, Leeds United, also near the top, have a heavy task that seems to be a foregone conclusion.

Because they must travel to Bolton, Sheffield United, whose win over Blackburn last Saturday caused their demotion, will have a chance to show whether their improved form means anything. They meet Arsenal in London. Nottingham and Hull City, leaders in the second division, both will be touring on Saturday and both have tough opponents. Nottingham travel to Clapton Orient, where a warm welcome awaits them. Hull City play Bradford, and this should be the feature game of the division.

Chelsea are at home to Preston North End and a capacity house will doubtless watch them perform. Hearts vs. Motherwell is the headliner in the Scottish first division. Celtic, who are in the top position, will be the meeting of Aberdeen and Celtic. Rangers, league leaders, have a soft spot, for they meet Falkirk, who do not seem to be going anywhere in particular just now.

JAMES ISLAND DEFEAT BAYS

Continue Winning Streak in Basketball League by Downing Hudson's Bay
Squad—J.B.A.A. Win

FIDELIS REGISTER ONE-SIDED VICTORY

James Island basketball squad, in the men's senior "C" division, continued its winning streak last evening at the Centennial gymnasium, when it rolled out the fast-traveling quintette representing the Hudson's Bay Company, 21-17.

So far the Islanders have yet to taste defeat, while the fast-traveling Hudson's Bay team has been held in check until the last moments. Ross, Jenkinson and Smith registered all the visitors' points, while Bob Addie, speedy forward for the Bays, was the bright light with eight points. McMillan played a sterling game at guard for the local team, besides dropping in two pretty baskets. Bill Blair refereed and the teams were:

James Island—Ross (6), Jenkinson (8), Boyd, Aldous, Smith (7), Thompson, Rivers.

Bays—Doherty, D. Fish (2), B. Addie (8), Tripp, Cann (2), McMillan (5), Brown.

FIDELIS WIN EASILY

The New Method Laundry ladies' team was no match for the fast-traveling Fidelis team in the ladies' "B" Section. The latter squad showed under the former to the tune of 30-8. D. "Dorothy" Bailey, centre for the Fidelis, with twenty-five points, tells the story in a nutshell. She went through the opposing guards almost at will and dropped in baskets after baskets from all angles. Bona Macmurchie was next point gatherer for the winners with three baskets and a free shot. M. Barr and H. Beck for the losers recorded four points each. Jack Taylor refereed, and the teams were:

Fidelis—C. Freeman (2), I. Foubister (4), C. Robertson, D. Bailey (26), I. Philbrook, B. Macmurchie (7), M. Brackenridge.

New Method Laundry—M. Barr (4), M. Moody, H. Beck (4), I. V. Thompson, V. L. Zaccarelli, M. Minnie, L. Zaccarelli.

J.B.A.A. WIN
The J.B.A.A. senior "C" men's division chalked up another victory by more than doubling the score on the Normal School by 23-10. The game was devoid of any outstanding feature, for play was slow from beginning to the end. S. Smith and D. Burnett were the heavy scorers for the winners, the former with ten points and the latter with eight. Normal School's points were evenly distributed. Ironside, their centre man, registering four points, led his team. Jack Taylor refereed and the teams were:

J.B.A.A.—Smith (10), Williams, Gockin (2), Wright (3), Burnett (8), McMichael.

Normal School—Martin (2), Trotter (2), Orchard, Ironside (4), Bowler (2), Abrosstoff, West.

Kid Chocolate Wins

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Kid Chocolate, latest Cuban banian sensation, pointed out an easy ten-round decision over Pinky Silverberg of Ansonia, Conn., at the St. Nicholas Arena tonight. The Kid could not drop the New Englander, but outpointed him by a wide margin. The weights were: Chocolate, 119½; Silverberg, 118.

The record gate for a wrestling match in America is $78,000, the amount taken in when Frank Gotch and Hackenschmidt met in 1912 in Chicago.

BOWLING

NIGHT OWLS TAKE TWO

Colonist Night Owls took two games from The Colonist mapsmashers in a City League fixture rolled on the Arcade Alleys last night. Both teams were in championship form and the fact that they lost the first game is no disgrace to the Owls. In this game they topped 819 pins, which would have won under ordinary circumstances, but last night it happened to be the lowest score of the evening.

J. Huxtable, of the Night Owls, announced high aggregate and high individual honors with 582 and 232 respectively.

COMPOS WIN THREE
Times Compos were able to take three straight from the Poodle Dog Cafe trundlers in the Fivepin League. The cafe men were sadly off form and only posted the 600-mark in the second game. S. Jenkins, of the Compos, showed a flash of his real form in the third game, when he split 222 pins.

Island Road Club

At the monthly meeting of the Island Road Club it was decided to stage a hill climb for club members, to be held on November 18 on the steep grade running from the old Goldstream Hotel to the Island Highway. It will be in the form of a time trial, and two prizes will be awarded to the riders who climb the hill in the shortest time.

Mrs. Ora Currie has placed her Summer home, Dogwood Lodge at Langford Lake, at the disposal of the club for the event, and members are requested to meet at Hillside Avenue and Douglas Street at 10 o'clock. Further particulars may be obtained from the secretary by telephoning 5106R.

News and Notes of the Interior

NORTHERN MINING BOOM
BURNS LAKE.—A mining boom is undoubtedly taking place in the Central Interior of this Province and one of the most promising fields is the Owen Lake area. It is estimated that the 1928 strawberry crop in Creston Valley has produced not less than $90,000 gross to about 150 ranches.

SHEEP ARE INCREASING
PENTICTON.—Several large bands of sheep have been brought into this district within the past week or so, indicating that sheep raising is growing rapidly in importance. There are at least a dozen ranches who are entering into this particular phase of agricultural activity on a considerable scale.

CRESTON BERRY CROP
CRESTON.—According to selling agency figures now available, it is estimated that the 1928 strawberry crop in Creston Valley has produced not less than $90,000 gross to about 150 ranches.

C.P.R. LOGGING OPERATIONS
CRANBROOK.—District headquarters, Canadian Pacific Natural Resources Department, are now located in this city. The change was made necessary on account of the department's branching out into extensive logging operations at Canal Flats, which are expected to employ from 800 to 1,800 men, including sawmill and woods staff. As the business of the department necessitates employment of a considerable force of accountants and clerks the payroll of the city is appreciably augmented as a result of the transfer.

ARTIFICIAL ANTHRACITE IN PROSPECT

Illingworth Process Promises to Revolutionize Fuel Industry in the Dominion of Canada

PLANS ARE MADE TO BUILD PLANT

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—Predictions of a complete revolution in the Canadian coal situation, whereby the importation of American anthracite will be rendered unnecessary through its replacement by bituminous fuel from the Maritimes and the Prairie Provinces through a new carbonization process, were made here recently by Major S. J. Robins, president of the Canadian Carbonized Coals, Limited, of Toronto, and managing director of the Hotel Association of Canada, who returned last night from England.

aboard the White Star liner Lauratic.

Major Robins crossed on the Lauratic the end of last month with G. D. McDougall, consulting engineer for his firm, to investigate the Illingworth carbonizing process, which has been developed recently in England, where it is expected to revolutionize the coal industry. He returns to this country with the rights for Canada and the United States, and expects to see a number of plants established throughout the country.

Plans have already been made to construct a plant at Prescott, which will be capable of handling 300 tons of port coal a day producing a solid product that should prove a very strong competitor of anthracite fuel, which is now being imported from the United States in huge quantities. Bituminous coal from Nova Scotia will be carried up the St. Lawrence in canalized steamers, which will operate continuously throughout the season of navigation and carry sufficient fuel to Prescott to enable the plant to continue operating throughout the winter months.

Smokeless fuel, produced at a sufficiently low temperature to retain as high a percentage of tarry matter as is found in hard coals, more combustible, denser and economical than ordinary coke, is obtainable by means of the Illingworth process. Major Robins pointed out that low grade Canadian coking coals can be treated in the Illingworth plant at a low cost, resulting in a dense, smokeless, high-grade fuel, equal in every respect to first-class anthracite. The process is a simple one, motor spirit and numerous profitable by-products are recovered. A very important feature of the process is the fact that the quantity of gas can be reduced to the quantity required to heat the retorts, etc., in the plant, and it is therefore unnecessary to find a market for the surplus gas. In all high temperature recovery coking plants, the large quantities of gas produced must be marketed, Major Robins explained.

The evolution of the Illingworth process of low-temperature carbonization is the outcome of many years' patient research and experiment by Dr. S. Roy Illingworth, who first became interested in the subject while occupying the position of lecturer on fuel technology at the Treforest School of Mines, South Wales. A plant was established at Treforest, where the process was first operated on an industrial scale, and the product, which is a high temperature, distilled gas, is produced in a ribbon form, is produced. It is possible, therefore, for one retort to handle four charges a day. The distilled gas, which enters the retorts, is solidified by the agglutinating characteristics of the coal alone, no pitch being necessary for the operation, which eliminates smoke nuisances, it was stated.

In explaining the reasons prompting him to promote the process in Canada and the United States, Major Robins said that the yearly consumption of coal for domestic purposes in Ontario and Western Quebec is about 5,000,000 tons. The bulk of this is anthracite imported from the United States, a small proportion comes from Great Britain, part coke, and the remainder is produced in gas works and coke ovens.

There are practically inexhaustible fields of soft coal in Canada and the United States, within easy reach of consumers in Central Canada, but this class of fuel is unsuitable in its raw state for household and general heating purposes, being smoky in use, difficult to control in burning and requiring frequent firing and attention. Further, Major Robins said, a large proportion of the available heat units in the coal is wasted in the form of unburnt gases, expelled through the chimneys.

CONVERSION EFFORTS

For many years efforts have been made to convert soft coals into fuel resembling anthracite in its properties by means of a process which would be simple and inexpensive. To realize the difficulties of the problem, it was necessary to examine the difference between the various classes of coals formed by nature, and what constituted a good economical fuel. The volatile constituents of coal grow less as time goes on, ranging from 50 per cent in the least to 10 per cent in the brown coals, to 7 per cent in the oldest anthracite formations. As time and great pressure were the prime factors in this conversion, it was not easy matter to hasten the process by means of heat alone. This seeming impossibility is now commercially feasible, Major Robins explained, in so far that a fuel, with all the properties of anthracite, excepting density and appearance, is now produced from low-grade soft coals.

COST OF PLANT

Major Robins was averse to hazarding an estimate of the probable cost of the fuel produced by the process, but pointed out that the cost of a plant is around $4 a ton through-put. With a 100-ton per day plant, producing 30,000 tons of fuel, the cost would amount to $120,000, or about one-third that of a coking plant.

During recent months, experiments in the production of less fuel, motor spirit, tars, oils and gas have been carried out with Kent coal by Pearson & Dorman Long, Limited, England, in conjunction with the Illingworth Carbonization Company, Limited, and the first unit of a 400-ton-a-day plant will be installed at once in Kent, production of smokeless fuel commencing early in the new year.

Concluding his remarks on this new process, for which he predicts a wonderful future, Major Robins explained that it should do much to assist the Maritimes and also the Western coal fields, as all types of small coal can be used in a distilled form. He hastened to say, however, that the coal would not compete industrially with electrical power, but that it would be used extensively for domestic purposes.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Help Comes Just in Time

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Up at the head of a certain lake the Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind took it into their heads to go dancing down the middle of the lake. Now when the Merry Little Breezes dance on the water they make a ripple. You see, the water wants to dance, too. A ripple is made up of tiny little waves. Perhaps we ought to call them wavellets.

So the Merry Little Breezes danced down the middle of the lake and a ripple followed them down. Now it wasn't a big ripple, but it rocked a certain stick to which was clinging Rusty, the Fox Squirrel. Behind the first ripple came another ripple, and back of that another ripple, and another and another. Each little ripple rocked the stick a second. He ran right up that gently slapping him in the face. Now Rusty knew enough about water to know that a little ripple may sometimes be a big wave. If the wind should blow hard, the water would become rough, and if it should become rough, Rusty knew that he might not be able to reach shore. He would be much more likely to drown. So there was nothing to do but to begin swimming again.

Rusty drew a long breath, let go of that stick and started on paddling as fast as he could make his legs go. The ripples were not as gentle as they had been at first. They were growing bigger and bigger. Rusty was having hard work to keep the water out of his nose. He was frightened. Never had he felt more helpless than now. You see, there wasn't a thing to do but keep on swimming. If he stopped swimming he would drown. He must keep right on, no matter how tired he was. His legs were beginning to ache again.

Paddle, paddle, paddle! Would he never have another chance to rest? Paddle, paddle, paddle! There was something moving on the water ahead of him. What could it be? A little wave broke right in his face and he couldn't see. It might be danger. It might be an enemy of some kind. Well, it wouldn't be any worse to be caught by an enemy than to be drowned. So Rusty kept on—paddle, paddle, paddle.

Suddenly, right in front of Rusty, appeared a flat, very smooth piece of wood. Rusty didn't stop to examine it. He climbed right on it. Then he saw what it was. He saw it was a long stick flattened at one end and that the other end was held by a man in a queer thing that floated on the water, which was really a canoe. Rusty didn't hesitate a second. He ran right up that paddle—for, of course, that is what the long stick was—kept right on up the man's arm to his shoulder, and then jumped down into the canoe. He ran forward and sat on the bow. You should have heard the man laugh!

"Well, little chap," said he, "you are as if you are mighty glad to get out of the water. I guess it is a good thing I happened along. The wind is blowing harder and soon it will be rough. I am afraid you never in the world could have made it ashore. But we'll make it now."

He turned his canoe toward the shore and began to paddle. Rusty sat on the bow facing the shore. The wind and the sun soon dried him off, and by the time shore was reached, he was quite himself. The moment the canoe was within jumping distance, Rusty sprang ashore and, with a flip of his big tail, climbed a tree. Halfway up he turned and looked down at his rescuer, as much as to say "I can speak your language, but I thank you just the same."

Funds in Hand of Disbanded Guide Company Distributed

COBBLE HILL, Nov. 8.—The committee of the Cobble Hill Girl Guides, now disbanded, met at the home of Miss E. J. Davidson, formerly secretary-treasurer, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. V. H. Stewart Mackled, late president, being in the chair.

As the funds in hand amounted to some sixty dollars, it was decided to dispose of them as follows: $15 to the Cowichan Health Centre; $15 towards a fund for installing a furnace in the Cobble Hill Hall; $24 for the maintenance for one month at the Solarium of Peggy Archer, whose parents formerly lived here; and $6 towards the Brownie Pack now being formed at Shawinigan Lake. The company flag will be handed to Miss Denny, commissioner, for any company that may be without a standard.

Others present were Mrs. T. P. Barry, late vice-president; Mrs. E. C. Nightingale, Mrs. George Payne, and Miss M. Melrose, late captain.

JUST LIKE A WOMAN

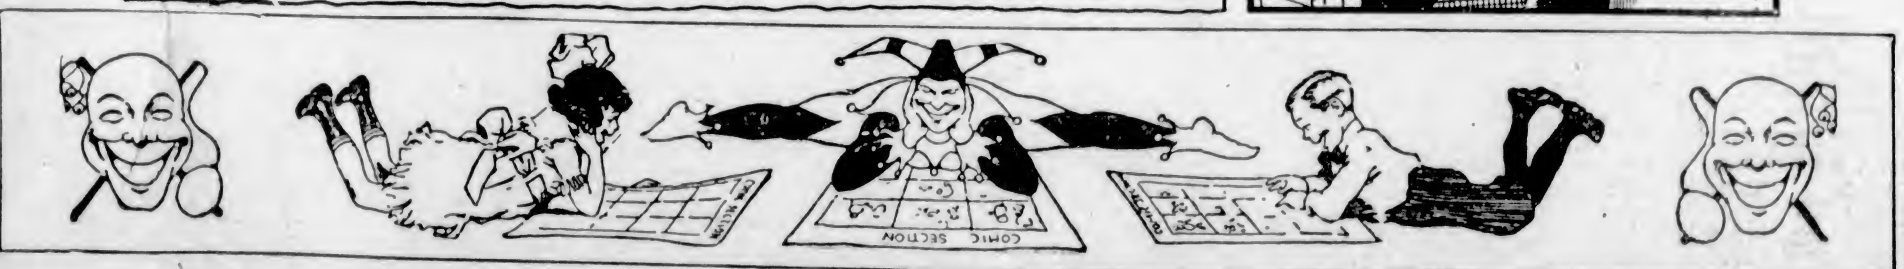

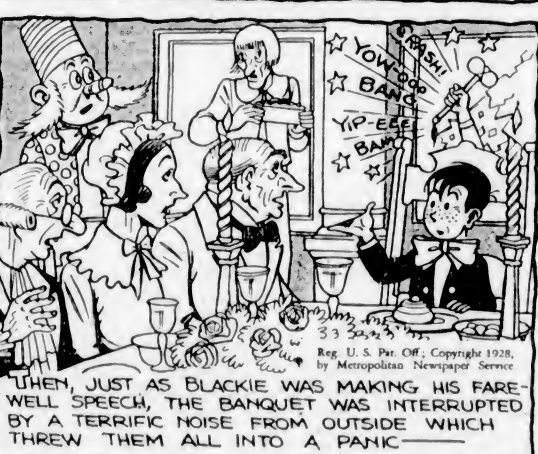

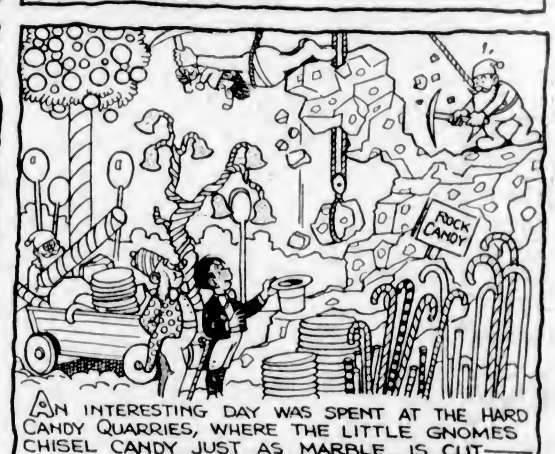

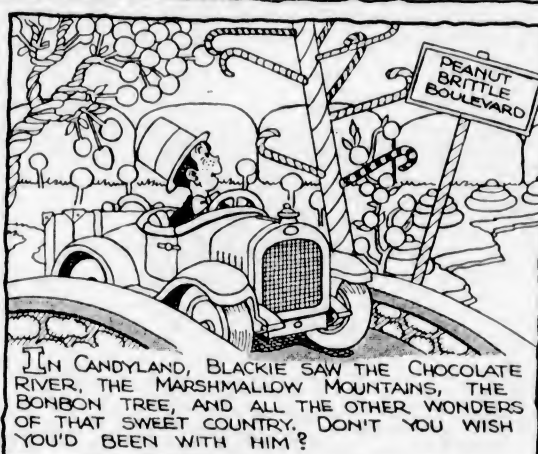

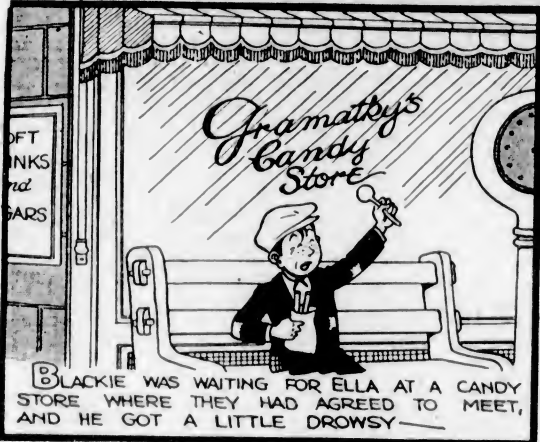

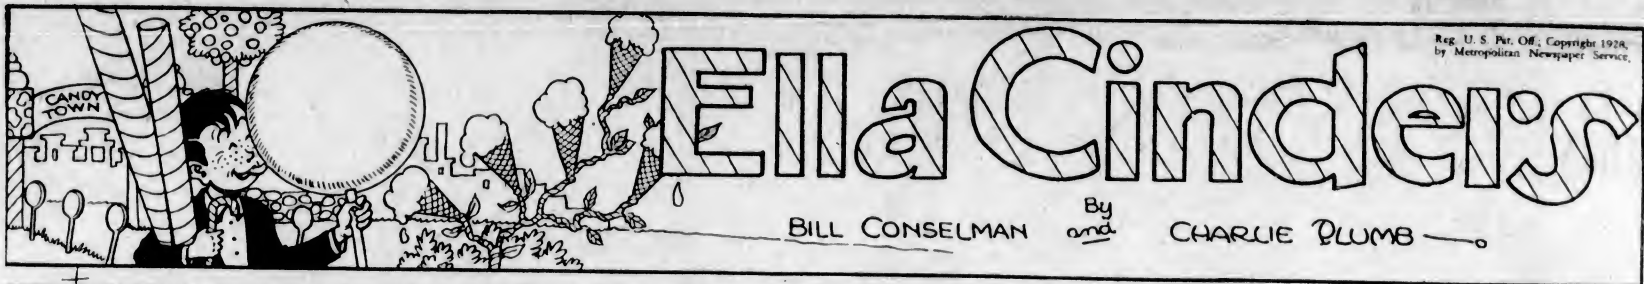

The shop was crowded with customers all trying to get served at once.

An eagle-eyed shop walker noticed that one young man on his staff was spending a great deal of time over a woman who did not seem to have purchased anything, although she had been looking at various articles for half an hour.

"Doesn't that customer know what she wants?" he asked the assistant drawing him aside.

"Yes, sir," replied the other smartly, "but I'm trying to sell her something else."

HOOVER WANTS CONSERVATION

President-Elect of United States Expected to Aid in Rehabilitation of Fraser River Fishing

PROTECTING TREATY IS WISH

New hope for the rehabilitation of the Fraser River salmon fisheries, once incomparably the greatest in the world, was based here on the election of Herbert Hoover to the presidency of the United States.

Canadians who have led the fight for more than a decade for the rehabilitation of the Fraser River salmon fisheries believe that under Mr. Hoover's administration Canada and the United States will finally sign a treaty protecting those fisheries from further depletion and guaranteeing their replenishment.

As Secretary of Commerce in the Coolidge administration, Mr. Hoover has displayed an interest not only in the fisheries of the United States but also in the international fisheries of the Fraser. He has been constantly in touch with prolonged efforts to save these fisheries, and is keenly sympathetic towards them.

Mr. Hoover's record in the United States Government shows that he is

MATSON VESSEL MALOLO TO SAIL

Big Ship Will Leave Portland Today on Special Cruise to Hawaiian Islands

With a Large Number of Residents of the Pacific Northwest

With a large number of residents of the Pacific Northwest aboard, the giant Matson liner Malolo will sail from Portland for the Hawaiian Islands today.

After a stay of three days at Honolulu, the liner will proceed to Hilo, so that passengers may view the Kilauea volcano and the wonders of Hawaii National Park, the ship then returning by a different interisland route to Honolulu. After four more days ashore, featured by celebrations arranged for the visitors, the ship will sail for San Francisco on the afternoon of November 22, arriving there on November 27.

Superior lifeboat equipment, sufficient to measure the most timid of seafarers, has been installed on the Malolo. Lifeboats number eighteen and have a total capacity of 1,000 persons.

Two are motor lifeboats of steel, thirty feet six inches long by ten feet beam by two feet six inches draft. Each has two watertight bulkheads, two masts and is fitted with complete radio equipment.

Twelve boats are twenty-eight-foot, round-bottom lifeboats, and four are twenty-eight-foot, round-bottom nesting type of lifeboats, all of metal and fully equipped. They are handled by eighteen sets of the most modern and improved davits obtainable. The motor boats are capable of towing at sea the remainder of the life and work-boat at a speed of five knots an hour. Wireless facilities make it possible to reach any point within 1,000 miles.

The order for 500 refrigerator cars was placed with the Eastern Car Company of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, a company of a special type for banana and fruit trade. These cars will be required in connection with development of business under the Canada-West Indies trade agreement, and are to operate in conjunction with the new line of steamers being placed in service from Canadian ports by Canadian National Steamships.

Two of the new steamers of the Western route will be equipped to carry 100,000 stems of banana, landing their fruit at Halifax during the winter months and at Montreal during the season of navigation on the St. Lawrence. The 150 fruit refrigerator cars are equipped with divided wire basket ice bunkers. Special consideration has been given to the ventilating as well as refrigeration, while provision has been made for heating the cars during the winter months. A special type of floor rack and metal rails are being introduced in order that these cars may be used to the best advantage. Steel underframes and trucks will be used in the construction of these cars, and special attention has been given to the quality of insulation. The other 350 refrigerator cars will be similar in construction to those for the banana trade, but will be equipped with brine tanks at each end of the car.

Effective October 1, 1928, the steamer will leave for Port Alice and other ports on the 1st, 11th and 21st of the month.

West Coast Reduction Plants Are Operating With Another Type of Fish—Plans for Extra Sailings

LOUISE RELEASED AFTER OVERHAUL

Resuming her calls on the West Coast, the Nootka left yesterday afternoon to load herring and salmon at various points, signaling the movement of herring from the recent reduction of the Federal Department of Fisheries. By this direction reduction plants were permitted to take herring for fertilizer until the end of next month.

The Princess Maquina is loading at Port Alice, and it is expected will be somewhat delayed on her scheduled return to this port.

Owing to the accident to the Princess Royal, the Princess Mary will make that cruise, leaving Vancouver on Tuesday night for the North. Rupert, royal and thus will be unable to take her first sailing to Alaska, so that the Princess Alice will make that cruise, leaving Vancouver on Tuesday night for the North. The proposed withdrawal of the Princess Kathleen from the triangular route, announced for today, will be postponed, as the Alice will not be free until her return from Skagway.

The B.C. Coast Steamship Service yesterday issued the schedule of all-distant sailings during the Thanksgiving holiday, the Japanese steamer Seine Maru is reported to have put in at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, for a week's repairs. The Seine Maru was damaged by ocean gales on November 8.

Niagara Coming

Nearly twenty-four hours behind schedule, the Canadian-Australian liner Niagara is expected at William Head from Australia, New Zealand and Honolulu at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, according to advice received by Mr. L. D. Chetham, local agent. The vessel may be docked at Rihet, piers between 3 and 4 o'clock, to be out of the way before R.M.S. Empress of Russia arrives from the Orient.

The Torvaniger passed out to sea at 1:45 o'clock yesterday morning. The Larchbank followed at 3:30, according to Federal Pilots.

ACCUSED HELD FOR ESSONDALE

DOUGLAS ALLISON ALLEGED FUGITIVE FROM MENTAL HOSPITAL

Theft Case Held Up Pending Action of Provincial Authorities—Firearms Case Saturday

Douglas Allison, of Royal Oak, was arraigned in the Saanich police court yesterday before Magistrate George Jay to face a charge of stealing $540, the property of a Chinese named Lim Hong, who is employed by Mrs. Bassett, of West Saanich.

After Harry Langley, clerk of the court, had read the charge against the accused, Mr. Ernest L. Tait, Saanich prosecutor, informed the court he had received a communication from the Attorney-General's Department to the effect that Allison was an escaped inmate of the mental hospital at Essondale. He said a warrant would be issued for his detention, and suggested that the proceedings in court be adjourned. The case was remanded for one week.

When arrested by Chief of Police Allan Rankin last Monday, Allison confessed to having stolen the money, and led the chief to the place where he had concealed a portion of it behind some boarding in a barn. There was $194 concealed behind this board. Another $24 was found in the man's purse, while the accused admitted to the police that he had put some of it in the bank. After telling Chief Rankin where the money was, he next showed him where he had concealed the tin that had contained the money. It was buried by the old V. & S. track near his residence.

The case of Joel Pendray, charged with unlawfully discharging a gun in a restricted area, was remanded until Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. His Honor said that while he had reviewed the evidence in the case, he was not yet prepared to deliver judgment, but would do so tomorrow.

Thomas Hardy paid the court a $5 fine for failing to produce his driver's licence on November 5 upon the demand of a police officer on Cedar Hill Crossroad.

ONTARIO FARMER HAS ONE ACRE LEFT

NORTH BAY, Ont., Nov. 8.—Lake Nipissing was calm yesterday, following the most furious windstorm that has ever swept its wide expanse in the memory of pioneer residents of this city.

A high west wind lashed the waters against the North Bay shore for a period of twenty-four hours. A survey of the lake front reveals destruction and damage that is estimated at over $100,000.

The situation in West Ferris Municipality is extremely perilous owing to the storm damaging breakwaters and shore guards in the Summer cottage section to such an extent as to render the village of West Ferris liable to inundation should another severe blow develop before the freeze-up.

In the vicinity of Nevelville and Lavigne, farm lands have been flooded for months, and in one instance a farmer was only left one acre of an eighty-acre tract to raise produce for his family and cattle.

NEW YORK WELCOMES ANCIENT VISITORS

Mummies Brought From Aleutian Islands, Where They Lived Before There Was Any New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Four travelers from distant parts who might have been affected by the United States quota against alien immigrants have entered New York without hindrance by border officials. As natives of the Aleutian Islands, midway between Alaska and Siberia, they have come as ambassadors from that part of the North American continent which, over a thousand years ago, was the center of population as New York is today. They come from a metropolis of the past to the metropolis of the present.

True, the population of the Aleutian Islands was at no time reckoned in the millions. But when it was approaching the thousand mark the site of the present city of New York was empty of all habitation. Perhaps an occasional Indian passed through the trees and scrub. Otherwise there was nothing. In fact, the Aleuts were totally unaware that such a spot existed, that it ever had existed, or that it was ever going to exist.

Due partly to these circumstances and the changes that time has wrought, the four emissaries from a far land, landing at Prince Rupert, B.C., traveled together across Canada on the Canadian National Railways for the insignificant fare of $20. They were suitably accommodated, carefully protected and throughout their trip aroused curiosity in whomsoever came into contact with them.

During the entire journey they never moved. The tribal leader, accompanied by a hunter, a seamstress and a baby sat immobile with their knees pulled up close to their breasts. This, explains Harold McCracken, leader of the Stoll-McCracken expedition into the North on a search for relics of an early Mongolian race, is a characteristic posture of the Aleuts. The four natives who made the journey to New York as excess baggage, had been buried in that position over a thousand years ago; they had retained it all these years as mummies on the top of a barren rock between Siberia and Alaska. It was therefore not unnatural that they should continue unmoved even though they were traveling on their journey to New York, not only a great expanse of sea and continent, but the unbridgeable gap of the centuries.

The four Mongolian mummies, regarded as invaluable links with the past history of the continent since their discovery by the expedition to the Far North, are resting in the American Museum of Natural History, where their age and the nature of the period in which they lived will be investigated by specialists of the department.
